EAST FOLLOWS CAMPAIGN

If Governor Captures Western Crowds He'll Help
Regain Easterners

Rochester, N. Y.—Time was when a presidential candidate who invaded the west was temporarily forgotten by the east during his absence but, following the reaction Wednesday among those who heard Governor Smith's speech at Omaha the event was just as important politically as if it had occurred in the Empire state.

Talking with dozens of people Wednesday, especially among the Smith following, one discovered that the Omaha speech did more to stimulate the Democrats than anything that has happened since the Smith speech of acceptance.

The truth is the speech of acceptance did not register well with the governor's old people. It seemed formal and stiff and did not "get the crowd." The Omaha speech was described as "the same old Al" of state campaigns. But it is curious that among those interviewed hardly anybody mentioned the substance of the Smith address at Omaha or argued about its principles at all. What seemed to make the most profound impression here was the cheering by the Omaha crowd and the feeling that "Al Smith got there."

PERSONALITY COUNTS

Indeed, if the New York governor can impress his personality on the western crowds and stir up enthusiasm he will do a great deal toward recovering lost ground here. For there is no question that his cause has been slipping in his own state and particularly in this section. Except presidential years, Governor Smith usually carries Rochester and once he carried Monroe co. He has an uphill fight presidential year because of the tendency of many regular Republican voters to cast a straight ticket.

There is the usual cross-current here on account of religion and prohibition, with some indication that the wet and dry issue will affect the local vote materially. In the Thirty-eighth district, for instance, which used to be represented by Meyer Jacobstein, Democrat, who has retired, the Republican organization nominated a "wet." This promoted the Republican drive to enter the field with an independent candidate. His strategy shows the difficulties the Republicans have in emphasizing dry views.

CAMPAIGN HAD LAGGED

Up till today the Smith campaign has lagged somewhat. With the heavy Republican vote in this section, it has always been a difficult task for the Democrats to make any progress. But this year the Smith campaign started out with plenty of enthusiasm, especially after the Houston convention. After the speech of acceptance the series of answers by the governor to attacks on him did not create the favorable impression he had hoped. The incident of the Syracuse woman who wrote the "West Virginia woman" appeared to many of the Smith supporters as a sign of weakness and a defeatist spirit has been in the air. That's why the Omaha speech meant so much. It revealed Al Smith fighting on broad national issues before a crowd that was new to him and the radio reproduction of the enthusiasm of the crowd, which is something novel in presidential campaigns, is today regarded as the beginning of an upward swing for the political stock of the New York governor. Herbert Hoover has made a favorable impression by his radio talks but it is beginning to be apparent that the radio will mean quite as much in holding in line one's own following who might show a tendency to waver as it will in winning converts.

$5,000,000 Loss In Mexican Gale

MORE THAN 300 KNOWN DEAD IN FLORIDA STORM

Petroleum Companies Suffer
Heavy Losses in Mexican Territory

BULLETIN

West Palm Beach, Fla.—(AP)—The known death toll from Sunday's tropical hurricane mounted about 300 lives Thursday.

Mexico City.—(AP)—A property loss of $5,000,000, raging river floods and extensive damage to crops and buildings are described in newspaper dispatches from Tampico as the result of a heavy storm which has been raging in the region between San Geronimo and Tuxpan for several days. Petroleum companies suffered considerable damage.

The region affected is on the north coast of the state of Vera Cruz. William Green, superintendent of the La Huasteca Petroleum company, was given authority for the $5,000,000 estimate of damage. He was quoted as declaring that the visitation was the worst of its kind that he had seen in his 30 years in that zone.

Heavy rains, lashed by strong winds, destroyed crops and Mr. Green said that he had seen fields leveled as though they had been swept with a scythe. Rivers quickly reached flood stage, sweeping bridges away and destroying numerous houses and drowning cattle. No loss of human life has been reported.

The La Huasteca and the El Aguila Petroleum companies suffered their losses when the floods damaged docks and other equipment and carried away barges whose steel mooring cables were snapped by the forceful waters. The dispatches said that Laja and Tanchichula rivers carried cattle, parts of buildings and other storm wreckage into the gulf.

RUSH RELIEF WORK

West Palm Beach, Fla.—(AP)—While the count of loss of life and the injured and homeless from Florida's tropical hurricane went forward in the storm area Thursday additional relief was speeding to the district from every direction.

Food, clothing, medical supplies and building material were hauled into the stricken Lake Okechobee area by train and boat, while trucks and other conveyances continued their missions of mercy to the injured and sick or brought the dead out for burial.

Governor John Martin was en route to lend his aid if needed. Before leaving Tallahassee Wednesday night, the governor, in response to urgent requests for aid from local authorities, called upon the people of Florida to contribute funds to the sufferers.

Estimates of the dead continued to vary between 325 and 400 persons, the majority Negroes who were employed as laborers on the farms, and Red Cross officials placed the number of homeless at 15,000.

Approximately 350 persons are swept in the Okechobee section, dead both by hurricane winds and by a wall of water loosed from the

REVEALS DEATH PACT OF PAIR FOUND SHOT

Detroit.—(AP)—A death pact entered into by Burr Hitt, Detroit apartment house operator, and his wife Grace, was revealed Thursday by Mrs. Louise Harms, a nurse in the Hart home from April to Sept. 1. Lieut. John Hoffman of the police homicide squad, announced, Mr. and Mrs. Hart were found shot to death Saturday night. Hoffman said Mrs. Harms told him the Harts had been in financial troubles. Police say their investigation has dispelled a theory that the Harts were slain by burglars.

COOLIDGES STOP TO PAY VISIT TO MRS. GOODHUE

Northampton, Mass.—(AP)—Anxious to ascertain for themselves the condition of Mrs. Lemira Goodhue, Mrs. Coolidge's mother, who has been ill for many months, President and Mrs. Coolidge paused here Thursday on their way to Vermont for an inspection trip. Mrs. Coolidge entered her mother's room alone and stayed at her bedside for a half hour before the chief executive joined her. Mrs. Coolidge promised to return to stay with her mother several days on the way back from Plymouth to Washington.

FLYING WIND-MILL IS DAMAGED AT LE BOURGET

Le Bourget, France.—(AP)—The autogyro, or "flying windmill," in which the Spanish inventor Juan de la Cierva crossed the English channel crashed during a trial flight here Thursday and was badly damaged.

This scene on the main street of West Palm Beach, Fla., shows the hurricane's appalling toll. The death list in Palm Beach county was estimated by Red Cross officials at 400, with other hundreds homeless and millions of dollars in property damage.

Ask Hoover To Extend Trip Plans

Candidate Gets Many Invitations to Appear in Cities
Not on Program

BY JAMES L. WEST
Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington.—(AP)—As Herbert Hoover turned Thursday to the consideration of his second prepared address in his campaign he had before him pressing invitations to extend the program of four prepared speeches which he set for himself upon his return from making his acceptance address in California.

Whether the Republican presidential candidate will find it possible to respond to these appeals remains to be determined, but as election day approaches the pressure upon him will be increased and at least some of his advisers think that he will accept some of the invitations.

His present plan, however, is to speak only at Elizabethton, Tenn., New York city and Boston, before returning back to his California home to cast his vote. He now is working on the Elizabethton address, which will be delivered on Oct. 6 and which is expected to deal with industrial questions.

Upon returning here from northern New Jersey where he discussed labor Monday night and made several impromptu talks in his two days of campaigning there, Hoover again was urged to visit both Texas and Illinois either during his return trip across the continent or at some earlier time.

Hoover has had no comment to make thus far on the Omaha speech of Governor Smith on the agricultural problem, and it was indicated that he probably would have none. However, other leaders of his party are expected to reply. Dr. Hubert Work, chairman of the Republican national committee, having issued a statement late Wednesday declaring that the Democratic candidate's assertions were based upon misquotations.

CARDINALS WIN FIRST FROM NEW YORK GIANTS

Polo, Grounds, New York.—(AP)—Three home runs by George Harper, Giant cast off, helped the St. Louis Cardinals beat the New York Giants in the first game of their crucial double header Thursday. The final score was 3 to 5 and boosted the Cardinals' pennant lead to three full games, while close to 50,000 fans looked on.

Harper's sensational hitting featured the heavy clubbing of both teams. His first two homers were off Larry Benton, the Giant's pitching ace, one coming with two on base in the sixth. The other was made off Jack Scott in the eighth. The Cardinal right fielder had a chance to equal the all time record of four home runs for a single game but fanned out when he came to bat in the ninth with the bases full.

Six homers were made altogether, Hefey of the Cardinals, and Cohen and Hogan of the Giants, contributing.

NAB PHILADELPHIAN FOR RASKOB THREAT

Aged Would-be Blackmailer
Held After Threatening to Bomb Home

Philadelphia.—(AP)—A 65-year-old man, giving a Philadelphia address, was held Thursday in $10,000 bail on a charge of threatening to blow up the home of John J. Raskob, Democratic national chairman, unless he was paid $100,000. He gave the name of Frank Mooney.

The threats were contained in three letters sent through the mail. According to private detectives Mooney admitted the charge.

The letters were addressed to Mrs. Raskob at her home in Citymont, near Wilmington, Del. The first threatened to dynamite the home unless the money was forthcoming. Mrs. Raskob paid little attention to it. But when the second arrived she turned it over to detectives of the Dupont division of which her husband is an officer.

A trap was laid for the writer but in the meantime a third letter was received. Mrs. Raskob was instructed to answer it and she did so, addressing it to general delivery Philadelphia postoffice, as directed by the writer.

Mooney called for the letters Wednesday night and was arrested by detectives of a local agency.

Trotzky Is Target Of Foes' Guns

Report Says Exiled Former Commissar Besieged in Home—Believed False

London.—(AP)—The Daily Mail asserted Thursday that dramatic attempts had been made to kill Leon Trotzky, once powerful as head of the red armies, in his place of exile in faraway Turkestan. The paper, displaying the story prominently, said that plot was hatched in Moscow but gave no source for its information.

Moscow was stated to have admitted that Trotzky had been shot at but explained it was the action of individuals. The soviet authorities were greatly perturbed by the revelations and the Moscow newspaper Izvestia was cited as stating the authorities had dispatched a special commission to investigate.

For three successive nights Trotzky's cottage at Alma-Ata, Turkestan, was asserted to have been besieged by sharpshooters. They hid behind trees and fired, while Trotzky's son defended the home with two sporting rifles. All of Trotzky's appeals for help to the local soviet authorities were disregarded.

After the sharpshooters failed to kill the former commissar of war, persons described as local enemies were stated to have blocked Trotzky for many days and his family were not allowed to obtain food. Only the kindness of friends saved them from starvation. Medical assistance, lights and newspapers were also denied him.

The paper claimed that evidence of the plot was furnished by Trotzky himself.

STORY BELIEVED FALSE

Moscow.—(AP)—The story published in London of an attempt against the life of Leon Trotzky is regarded in Moscow as improbable.

Trotzky lives in the city of Alma-Ata which has a population of 64,000 and is not a wilderness where practiced sieges of private residences are at all likely.

ARREST MAN WHO SHOT ABBOTSFORD MECHANIC

Medford.—(AP)—The story of Isaac Nelson, Abbotsford garage mechanic who was shot and fatally wounded Tuesday night, has led to the arrest of Felix Barwick, 27, of Stevens Point, at the farm home of his sweetheart near here. Barwick is known also as William Dey Barwick. According to Sheriff Charles Seelick of Tazewell, has confessed the shooting was an act of a warrant against him. Nelson was found severely wounded in an automobile beside the road five miles north of Medford late Tuesday night. He was taken to a hospital here and to his wife's home where he died. Barwick was arrested over pay for the trip and held for from Abbotsford.

Others went to the farm of Harry Agerton, not far from where the shooting occurred, and shot Barwick. The man had rented the car in the name of Frank Green. Nelson was an employer, to return to the Agerton farm after riding from here to Abbotsford with his sweetheart, Agerton's daughter, Helen, who was traveling on a trip to Marshfield. The girl was found at Marshfield by officers and brought back here for questioning.

BRIBE MONEY EVIDENCE AT POLICE TRIAL

Philadelphia Prosecutor Finds Envelope Containing $5,100

Philadelphia.—(AP)—An envelope containing $5,100 in $100 bills was in the possession of District Attorney Monaghan Thursday as representing but a small portion of the $2,000,000 which he declares has been paid to police in a year by bootleggers and rum rings.

Introduction of the money into trial of Police Captain William J. Knott came in dramatic fashion after the grand jury, which is investigating possible collusion between police and bootleggers, and gang murders, had obtained information tending to show the acceptance of protection money by certain police officials.

A short time after the district attorney had caused the arrest of Captain Knott and Detectives John Sells and Herbert Layne on charges of bribery, extortion and conspiracy, they were held by Judge Miles O. Lewis in heavy bail for further hearing.

Fourteen saloon keepers confronted Knott and the detectives from the witness stand and testified that they had been paying $25 a week for police protection. One of them, John Engelman, said he had delivered the pooled contributions weekly.

Sells testified that he had collected $500 a week, the sum representing $25 from each of 20 saloon keepers, over a period of six months ending three weeks ago, kept $50 a week himself and took the rest in an envelope to a station house and put it in a bureau drawer in Knott's bedroom.

Assistant District Attorney Herman walked to the bench. Holding "In this envelope," he said, holding it before Judge Lewis, "There is $5,100 in $100 bills and a bank deposit book which shows that Captain Knott has made many substantial deposits. We have just obtained the envelope from a young woman."

QUIET AGAIN REIGNS IN MARYLAND STATE PRISON

Baltimore.—(AP)—Tear gas and isolation of the alleged ringleaders of the "noise riot" and battle which kept the Maryland State penitentiary in an uproar for two days, early Thursday seemed to have quelled the rebellion, which has had city police officers on duty at the prison since Monday night.

Throughout Wednesday night quiet reigned in the prison, even in the corridor to which the recalcitrant inmates had been removed, some by force, Wednesday. The 100 who still balked at work Wednesday and continued the strike which followed the "noise riot" of Monday night still admitted in their demands that a public hearing be given the prisoners on charges that cruel treatment was used in administration of the prison.

WINDOW IN COP'S HOME IS BROKEN IN KENOSHA

A window in the home of Max Kramer, who is in active charge of the detail at the Allen A. plant and who has arrested more than 20 strikers in the last few weeks, was shattered by a brick hurled from the sidewalk. Windows also were broken Wednesday in the homes of four more Allen A. workers.

STANDS ON HIS HEAD TO PROVE TO COURT THAT HE IS SOBER

Oshkosh.—(AP)—Leman Cartlen, 51, Oshkosh well driller, stood on his head in municipal court Thursday morning to prove he was not intoxicated and thereby saved himself from a charge of driving while drunk.

Despite his vehement protests that he was not drunk, the police brought him into the courtroom.

"Well, if you're not drunk, prove it," said District Attorney Frank H. Keefe.

"I will," replied Cartlen.

"Stand on your head."

Cartlen did, for two seconds. Then Keefe declined to bring a charge, declaring the feat ample proof that the man was not drunk. He got off with a $3 fine for driving by a traffic signal.

MURDER FARM SUSPECTS ARE UNDER ARREST

Youth and Mother Believed Identified in Two Canadian Cities

Los Angeles.—(AP)—The search for human bones and other evidence to substantiate the sinister story of the Northwest murder farm was temporarily suspended Thursday by southern California officers, pending return here of the principals in the case, a 21-year-old youth and his mother who were arrested in Canada Wednesday.

The center of activity in the case shifted to the Riverside district attorney's office which began extradition proceedings against Gordon Stuart Northcott and his mother, Mrs. Louisa Northcott, who have been sought for nearly a week. The former has been named as the slayer of at least four boys on his chicken farm at Riverside. Murder charges have been brought here against the pair.

Authorities here were confident that the youth arrested in Vernon, B. C. and the woman held in Calgary, Alberta, are the two principals named in the story of torture and murder told by their young relative, Sanford Clark.

Immediately following reports of the arrest Rex Walsh, Los Angeles city chemist reported that samples of material found from shallow graves found on the Northcott farm revealed traces of human blood.

BOTH HELD IN CANADA

Vancouver, B. C.—(AP)—Police of two Canadian cities Thursday were holding for southern California authorities a woman believed to be Mrs. Louisa Northcott and a youth identified as her son, Gordon Stuart Northcott. They are wanted for murder in connection with the revelations of a murder farm near Riverside, Calif.

The youth was arrested at Vernon, B. C. Wednesday and was subsequently taken to Kamloops, supposedly on his way to this city. He neither admitted nor denied that he was the man sought as the California murder farm suspect, but when asked to show his documents of identification, replied, "I am not such a fool."

The woman was in jail at Calgary. She was taken off an eastbound train at that city. Although she repeatedly denied that she was Mrs. Northcott, Chief of Police David Ritchie announced that after prolonged questioning he was positive she was the woman sought.

Manston.—(AP)—Denial that he or his companion were implicated in the robbery of a Joliet, Ill., saloon and the slaying of John Kakara, the proprietor, was made Thursday by "Nick" Hartman, 21, lying critically wounded on his cot in the local hospital.

Manston.—(AP)—Investigation of possible connection of two bandit suspects shot Wednesday by a policeman with the murder of a Joliet, Ill., saloon keeper, was at a standstill Thursday morning while the pair battled for their lives in the local hospital. Their critical condition prevented for the time being their questioning by officials.

Meanwhile, authorities here were advised that John M. Jenco, Illinois state representative, and county officials had left Joliet, Ill., for this city to view the men and see if they were members of the gang which slew Jenco's brother-in-law, John Kakara, in his saloon last week.

Andrew Kenderes, 21, claiming to be of Chicago, was at the point of death from gunshot wounds in his stomach. Hospital authorities said that he has little chance for recovery. His companion, Nick Hartman, 24, while less critically wounded, is in a serious condition.

25-WANTED AT BARABOO

Tyler, Pa.—(AP)—A member of a band of robbers who had scoured the countryside since Monday morning after the robbery of a Baraboo, Wis., filling station and the beating of the attendant.

The men were linked with the Joliet robbery and murder when scraps of paper found along their trail, pleaded together, proved to be written to John J. Jenco, member of the Illinois state legislature. First reports were that the car which the fugitives abandoned in their flight was Jenco's and that the assemblyman was missing. Jenco, however, was located and when questioned, denied that the machine was his.

Kenderes was operated on late Wednesday night. Their questioning was postponed on account of the seriousness of their condition.

Sheriff W. H. Ode of Sauk co. was to return from Joliet Thursday morning. On Wednesday night he conferred with authorities there concerning the Jenco letter and the car which was abandoned by the captives.

ON WAY TO WISCONSIN

Joliet, Ill.—(AP)—Accompanied by Sheriff E. E. Markgraf, Deputy James McKoon and Harry Payton, John M. Jenco, Illinois state representative, left Thursday for Wisconsin, to attempt to identify two men as members of a gang which shot and killed John Kakara, Jenco's brother-in-law, during a holdup of Kakara's saloon last week.

The two men, who gave their names as John O'Brien, and Nick Hartman of Chicago, were wounded while captured by a Wisconsin sheriff's posse during a filing station holdup in which they were alleged to have wounded the attendant.

Bits of a letter addressed to Mr. Jenco were found near the automobile used by the pair, linking them with the Joliet holdup incident.

Payton, who was in the saloon when the shooting occurred, was taken along to view the wounded suspects. Jimmy Howard, arrested on suspicion that he might have been a member of the holdup gang, Thursday denied knowing anything of the affair.

The Wisconsin shooting and the finding of the letter addressed to Jenco first led to reports that the expensive yacht was missing and aroused fear for his safety but he later was located at his home here and denied having been away for more than two weeks. He was unable to explain how the letter appeared in Wisconsin.

ORDER ENGINEER TO REVISE PLANS FOR SUBWAY JOB

Council Hopes to Cut Cost of Project Before Deciding on Action

Still clinging to old group lines, the city council Wednesday night ordered the city engineer to revise plans for the E. Wisconsin-ave subway, with the purpose of cutting the cost of the structure, and have them ready at the next meeting of the council. The vote on the resolution was 7 to 4. Aldermen Catlin, Steinhauer, McGilgan and Prautigan casting the negative votes. Alderman Vanderheyden was absent.

Mayor A. C. Rule will not veto the resolution, he said after the meeting, but will go to Madison to confer with the state highway commission and ascertain in writing how much of the city's expense that body will pay and what it considers a reasonable cost of the work.

The resolution providing for a revision of the subway plans was introduced by Alderman Charles Thompson. It is the city's answer to the state supreme court's alternate writ of mandamus ordering the city to commence work or show cause for not following the railroad commission's order for the grade separation. Final determination on whether the court's order will be followed will be determined when the new plans are submitted to the council for approval. It was indicated.

FAVORS COURT HEARING
When the matter was first brought up, Alderman John Diderich observed that perhaps there was merit to the objections of persons opposed to the subway and that the cost might be excessive. He suggested that the seven men favoring the project permit the question to be argued before the court as though the whole council opposed it, and then both groups could act according to the findings of the court.

He inquired of City Attorney A. C. Bosser whether the case of proponents of the subway would be weakened any by appearance before the court as a group opposed to the project. Mr. Bosser stated it probably would and suggested that he hardly could appear against the subway after having appeared for it at all hearings. Mr. Diderich received no support from other proponents of the subway.

THOMPSON INTERRUPTED
Ridiculing the suggestion that the city had no money and reminding the council that it had three years in which to set aside funds, Alderman Charles Thompson said it was the city's own fault it was being ordered to build the subway now.

When his talk was interrupted several times by Alderman Mike Steinhauer, the alderman from the Second ward sat down in disgust.

A resolution instructing the city attorney to represent the five aldermen before the supreme court on Oct. 9, as requested by the court in the writ of mandamus, was presented by Alderman Robert McGilgan but declared out of order. The city attorney can not legally represent the minority members of the council in this case.

Talk of default and going to jail for contempt of court finally sounded through the council chambers as indications were no settlement would be made Wednesday night and any action by the majority would result in a veto by the mayor and failure to override.

The legal aspects of the case finally were brought to the fore as the aldermen became tired of rehearsing past speeches and the group adjourned to a committee of the whole meeting to transact other business.

Returning to the council chambers Mayor Rule suggested Attorney Bosser give his opinion of the dilemma the council was in.

MUST BUILD SUBWAY
"I think you're stuck for the subway," the city attorney told the aldermen, "for no hearing or review of facts can be gotten before the supreme court. The question the jurisdiction of the high court in the matter and have it sent back to a circuit court for trial, but the facts as presented by the railroad commission show need for a grade separation and the argument that the city has no money is not the question."

"The commission has obtained testimony on the need for the separation and has ordered it; the court is only interested in carrying out the commission's orders. Only a technical point at law could prevent the court taking drastic action."

Two resolutions were handed the city clerk during the discussion, one which would have put the seven aldermen on record at attempting to go ahead with the subway and leaving the opponents of the projects to the mercy of the court. This resolution was withdrawn, however, when Alderman Thompson introduced his resolution that the plans be revised in an attempt to reduce the cost. The city engineer also is given authority to employ extra help to get the plans ready for the next council meeting.

SCHOOL CHILDREN AGAIN GET IODINE

Receive Treatment, Under County Nurse, for Prevention of Goitre

Iodine tablets, for the prevention of goitre, are again being given pupils of the rural schools of Outagamie-co, according to Miss Marie Klein, county nurse. The initial supply was given to the teachers at the annual institute late in August just before the opening of schools, and further the opening of schools, from Miss Klein as needed.

Children whose parents signed cards consenting to the goitre treatment last year are receiving iodine. All children from six to 14 years of age who do not have a visible goitre must take the treatment. They are given each Monday and a red dot is placed after each name on a special register to indicate the treatment. Children beginning school this fall had to bring a signed consent card from their parents before they were allowed to start the treatment.

How To Play Bridge

By Milton C. Work

MR. WORK'S POINTERS ON AUCTION BRIDGE
Continuing the series of fifty Bridge questions, of which was submitted yesterday in relation to Deal 11, Deal 1 with two questions in relation to it follows:

South is the Declarer, playing a No Trump contract. The play to the first trick is: West, Six of Spades; Dummy, Ten of Spades; East, Four of Spades.

QUESTION No. 17. Should Closed Hand win this trick?
QUESTION No. 18. With the proper hand winning trick 1, what cards should Declarer lead and play to trick 2?

ANSWER BLANK

ANSWERS
17. Closed Hand should not take Dummy's Spade trick as it is important to leave the lead in the Dummy.
18. Dummy should lead the Deuce of Hearts, and Closed Hand should play the Nine. This Heart lead is a camouflage designed to steer the adversaries away from the Heart suit.
When South plays the Heart Nine, he anticipates that the trick will be won by West, who then will be in the lead. West, on general principles, probably will avoid the suit which Declarer has started (Hearts) and abandon his Spades on account of the certainty of losing two more Spade tricks. The Clubs in Dummy may steer him away from a Club lead and leave him a lead through Dummy's King of Diamonds as a last resort. This is exactly what the Declarer desires. He knows that he can take three Spade tricks, one Heart trick and four Club tricks. He needs a Diamond trick to make game, which he surely can make if the adversaries lead the suit; but he may not make it if forced to lead himself.

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of each week for about six weeks, Mr. Work will present a most interesting and instructive series of Auction Bridge queries.

Start a contest in your family and with your friends on this special series. You will be rewarded with a greatly increasing knowledge of Auction Bridge and increased enjoyment from this great game. Tell your friends.

WELFARE OF STATE DEPENDENTS TO BE DISCUSSED AT MEET

Milwaukee Will Be Host to Social and Civic Workers in October

Milwaukee — (AP) A state program for taking care of its feeble minded and mentally defective will be discussed at the biennial Conference on Social and Civic Problems here Oct. 3, 4, 5 and 6, under the auspices of the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work.

On the first day of the conference, Dr. William F. Lorenz, Madison, director of the Wisconsin Psychiatric Institute, will read a paper on the needs of Wisconsin and will make suggestions as to how they may be met.

"We have, in Wisconsin, approximately 16,000 feeble-minded," Dr. Lorenz says. "There are persons who are in need of custodial care. We have room for about 1,300 in our two institutions. We must face the need in this field."

Feeble-mindedness is probably the greatest single fact which contributes to criminality and delinquency according to Aubrey W. Williams, Madison, general secretary of the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work.

"We can not hope to do very much toward reducing crime, delinquency, abandonment and desertion of children, until we have come to grips with the feeble-minded and mentally defective," he asserts.

Other papers and addresses in the course of the conference will include: "The organization and work of traveling psychiatric clinics," by Dr. Paul L. Schroeder, chief psychiatric service, Institute for Juvenile Research, Chicago; "The application of Mental Hygiene to Juvenile Delinquency," Dr. R. E. Bushong, director of the Milwaukee county mental hygiene clinic; "Mental Hygiene in the Schools—Experience of Min-

COMMISSION HEARS
CONTROVERSY OVER
LAKE SHORE VIEWState Body Will Decide Whether Land Owner Is Obstructing View

Neenah—The controversy over an extension into Lake Winnebago to which property owners along the lakeshore objected claiming it obstructed their view of the lake, was aired Wednesday afternoon before state railroad commission at a hearing at the city hall before Adolph Kanneby, Dr. G. N. Ducklow, George Gollmer and son, T. F. Thomsen, Edward Marsh and William Hauke, complainants and Frank Kuehl, owner of the point, Albert McMahon, civil engineer and Ernest Diener, original owner of the plat of land which was divided into lots, testified.

Attorney Mark Catlin, Appleton, appeared for the defendants. The land in question was visited by the attorney and commissioner after which the hearing was held at the city hall. The engineer showed by maps where the original shore line as far back as 1916, extended out to the lake 60 feet further than at present and Mr. Diener showed where 19 years ago trees were growing out 30 feet from the present shore line. The hearing was conducted to ascertain whether Kuehl had the authority to build a duck blind on land which originally belonged to the lot upon which he now has a cottage. The testimony was taken to Madison where a decision will be rendered soon.

ADOPT STRICT RULES
ON SCHOOL ABSENCES

Neenah—Knowing that many pupils whose parents sign excuses permitting them to attend the county fair, do not go to the fair at all, school officials have adopted a new ruling which provides that every pupil absent must be marked absent and make up his or her studies missed during the day in which they are not in school. Many pupils instead of going to the fair, spend the day elsewhere.

School authorities have again adopted the plan of compelling pupils to make up every minute's absence before final examinations can be taken. A pupil, according to the new regulations, whether he is one minute or 10 minutes late to class, is marked absent from the particular class and must make up that study. A checkup this year shows that there were not as many asking to be excused for the fair as before, owing to the new ruling.

IRA CLOUGH NAMED AS BEST CADDIE AT CLUB

Neenah—Ira Clough was selected as the best caddie at the Neenah-Menasha Golf club grounds last season, according to an announcement made Wednesday by Arthur Saunders, professional. Clough was closely followed by Karl Gaertner, Oederman and Grode. In the Class B list, Plucker and Sorenson led with but a few points difference in their efficiency.

Inner and outer guards and warden will be appointed by the president before installation, which will take place within the next two weeks.

HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETE

Neenah—Mitchel Johnson, high school athlete, is ill at his home with an attack of appendicitis. This will keep him from playing on the football team and possibly injure his work at basketball later. Johnson is captain of this year's basketball team.

NEENAH RED CROSS IS RAISING $250 FUND

Neenah—The Hardware Products company was first to answer the call sent out by the local chapter Red Cross, for aid for the hurricane sufferers in the south. Neenah's quota is $250, the manufacturing firm starting the list with a neat sum. An effort will be made to raise the quota this week and turn over the money to St. Louis headquarters, where it will be distributed as needed.

BEGIN WRECKING
TAYCO-ST BRIDGE

Workmen Are Preparing
Way for Construction of New Span Across River

Menasha—Greiling Engineering company, which has the contract for building the new Tayco-st bridge, started wrecking the old bridge Monday. Sidewalks and railings were removed and practically all the pavement was torn up and carted away. The company's dredge is at Racine and the heavy part of the work will not get under way until the dredge reaches here in a day or two. The new foot bridge was used Monday for the first time and apparently no difficulty was experienced in handling the hundreds of employees of the industrial plants who passed over it in going to and from work. Vehicle traffic was not long in adjusting itself to the detour over Mill-st bridge. A few of the heavier trucks were weighed and those that exceeded six and one-half tons had to reduce their loads or detour on Highway 125. State highway men are on duty at each end of the bridge to see that the rules and regulations are observed. At the new footbridge further down the canal lockers and bicycles are not permitted on the structure.

Long Suffering Ended By Dreco

Stomach and Liver Complaints Disappear—Now Feels Fine

"I was quite ill when I started on Dreco but this grand remedy has ended all my suffering and made me feel just like another woman," declares Mrs. May Mattson, 111 So. Main St., Fond du Lac, Wis.

Mrs. May Mattson

"My stomach used to fill up with gas and distress me greatly after every meal. Sour acids would rise in my throat and at times I'd feel dreadfully nauseated.

"In addition to this trouble with indigestion I also suffered with constipation and had dizzy spells and headaches which were quite severe at times. I became nervous and run down, and grew so weak that my work became drudgery.

"Thanks to Dreco, however, I am not only free of the stomach troubles but also all of the other complaints and I'm eating, sleeping and feeling 100% better in every way than I did before taking Dreco."

The Dreco mentioned above is a root and herb preparation of unusual merit. It is very effective in toning up the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and ending suffering and pain. Try it and you'll recommend it too. Sold by Schlicht and other leading druggists.

SMITH OPENS CAMPAIGN

The night after Mr. Hoover opened his campaign in the East, Mr. Smith opened his in the Mid-west at Omaha. To say that he was well received would be putting it mildly. The heart of the corn belt revolt rushed to him with open arms. He was given a great and friendly demonstration. How many votes his invasion of the West will get can be told only on election day. Mr. Smith's Omaha address shows him to be an effective campaigner. He has mastered the art of the political orator of getting to the heart rather than the head of his audiences. He knows how to play on the emotions by the liberal use of witticism and sarcasm. His speech at Omaha was punctuated with uproarious laughter rather than genuine applause. He took full advantage of the vulnerable spots in the Republican record and drove his attacks home with telling force.

It was characteristic of Mr. Smith to open his campaign in a Republican stronghold, and to deal with a subject about which he admittedly knows little and is perhaps the least qualified to discuss. His address contains no new proposal to agriculture although it was the theme of his speech, unless it may be said that he skirted a little nearer the McNary-Haugen bill. While refusing to be bound by the "mechanics and methods" embodied in the measure, he nevertheless made it appear that he favors the equalization fee in principle without actually approving it. He seems to accept the idea that the cost or losses of marketing exportable surpluses should be assessed upon the product benefited. The difficulty is in finding a way to do it and here he has to confess he is at sea. Although he submits no definite proposal and reiterates his plan to call in experts to help solve the farm problem if he is elected, his speech will be better received in Nebraska than it would be in New York state. It would probably lose as many votes in the latter as it may gain in the former. Here Mr. Smith is certainly flirting with the radicals in his attempt to turn the agricultural vote against the Republicans.

The most effective part of his Omaha address was his indictment of Republican failure to do anything for farmers. Here he is on solid ground. When he says that an administration which condemns and rejects a specific plan for agricultural relief like that embodied in the McNary-Haugen bill, and offers nothing in its place, is guilty of a flagrant failure of duty, he states a simple and patent fact. A legitimate indictment of the Coolidge administration is not that it vetoed the McNary-Haugen bill twice, but that it failed and refused to enact substitute legislation for the benefit of agriculture. For this it deserves the censure of the great body of farmers whose economic ills it had promised to remedy. It was a plain betrayal of a pledge and trust.

The question today, however, would seem to be not whether Mr. Hoover is to be punished for Coolidge's policies, but whether he or Gov. Smith offers the better prospect of effective and sound leadership in a solution of the agricultural question. While Mr. Hoover indorses Mr. Coolidge's vetoes of the McNary-Haugen bill, he is not to be held responsible for failure to offer a substitute measure. The leadership there had to come from the White house.

Mr. Smith says the American farmer has for generations been gold-bricked by the Republican party. We believe that is true insofar as his relation to the protective tariff is concerned. In the sense that the protective policy has brought general prosperity to the country through industrial development, the elevation of our standards of living and consumption increase, it has benefited the farmer, so that the policy, broadly speaking, is sound.

The farmer's legitimate complaint is against excessive protection on things he has to buy and against being misled into believing that duties on exportable surpluses he has to market are effective in raising the domestic price. Here he has been the victim of astute politicians. Nevertheless, it can hardly be said that he had anything to gain from Democratic policies. What he has needed, so far as government is concerned, is leadership that understood farm economy, marketing, etc., and that would divorce cooperation and assistance from politics and put it on a scientific basis.

If the farmer's vote this year is to be determined by his resentment against Republican administration of the past, he will punish it by casting his ballot for Smith and a Democratic government. And he will, from that standpoint, be justified in his course. Mr. Smith's hope of securing the agricultural vote is based entirely on this psychology, and his Omaha address shows that he is going to make good use of it during his invasion of the corn belt area. As for a positive or constructive program, he has nothing to offer.

If, on the other hand, the farmer is looking to the future rather than the past, he will have to decide whether he may reasonably expect more from the initiative, ability and executive leadership of Smith or of Hoover. Certainly he will not look to the platforms of the two parties, and certainly he can expect no more from the Tammany organization than he can from the Republican organization. So far as he is concerned, and in our opinion so far as the entire country is concerned, it is an issue of men—a question of personal fitness, competency and qualifications for the heavy duties and responsibilities of the presidency.

PROGRESSIVES LOSING

The important victory won by the Kohler forces over the Super-Progressives in the Republican platform convention at Madison will be no less gratifying than surprising to those citizens throughout Wisconsin who have been looking for ultimate rescue of the state from subversive politics. Few before the meeting would have believed it possible for the Kohler Republicans to capture the party organization by controlling the new state central committee, and by electing a majority of the resolutions committee, but this is what happened. Mr. Kohler's personally drafted platform was adopted, and that presented by the Blaine-LaFollette-Beck faction was rejected. It is no answer to the outcome to say that the Republican nominee for governor is more soundly progressive than those falsely sailing under these colors, and that his platform offers more to the people of Wisconsin than the one voted down.

The proceedings at Madison were the result of a change that is taking place in Wisconsin politics. There have been symptoms beneath the surface of dissatisfaction with the high-handed manner in which the self-appointed successors to the late Senator LaFollette were handling public affairs and administering Wisconsin government. It found expression in Mr. Zimmerman's election and the defeat of Ekern. It manifested itself again in the divided delegation sent by the electors to the Republican national convention, and recently in the overwhelming victory won by Walter J. Kohler for the governorship. The extraordinary vote polled by George W. Mead for senator was another straw. It begins to look as though young Bob LaFollette was to be the only survivor of the machine which sought to appropriate a great reputation and service to its selfish use, and which has loaded Wisconsin down with burdens and political excesses carried by no other state. The record of the last six years was certain to invite a reaction. Men cannot contradict themselves, breed class-enmity and misunderstanding, persecute industry, misgovern the state with weaklings and incompetents, exploit the people forever and get away with it.

Kohler offers Wisconsin a new deal. He is the leader apparently those who have been waiting for a change have been looking for. He can and will with the right kind of support demonstrate to the people that a complete reversal of recent politics is exactly what Wisconsin needs for its genuine progress, prosperity and contentment. Having made the start, the state should go through with a thorough housecleaning.

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician and Author
Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writer's names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

POPULAR TYPES OF TOE ITCH

Like all Gaul, venomous snakes, arthritis and divers minor afflictions, toe itch comes in three varieties or forms, namely, to wit, the simple itch associated with hyperhidrosis (which is medical term for excessive sweating); fungus dermatitis or ringworm infection of the skin of the feet prevailing in gymnasiums, swimming pools and other places where people go barefoot; and the dew itch; ground itch or toe itch caused by the invasion of the skin by the larvae of the hookworm, in sections of the south where the soil is polluted.

Simple toe itch is an annoying feature of only a few cases of excessive sweating of the feet. It is unquestionably relieved or prevented by going barefoot, whereas the other two forms of toe itch are contracted usually by going barefoot. I frequently urge the practice of going barefoot as a good thing for the development of the feet, for the general health of the individual and for the prevention of hyperhidrosis or bromidrosis (malodorous sweating). Of course, we presume the client has enough sense to avoid punctures, skidding and the like. The main objects of this talk are to warn readers that there is some risk of contracting fungus or ringworm dermatitis by going barefoot in public gymnasiums or about swimming pools or other bath establishments, and to warn tourists about the danger of contracting hookworm by going barefoot in any region where the soil happens to be polluted by the primitive habits of people who harbor hookworms in the intestine.

In my judgment it demands the skill and expert knowledge of the physician to make a diagnosis of the kind of toe itch in nearly all cases. Obviously there is nothing to prohibit one with such toe itch from having hyperhidrosis. So how are you going to tell what ails you? It is difficult enough for the doctor to make sure in many cases. It may be highly unscientific and even wrong, but somehow I feel justified by the reports I have had from correspondents, in saying that the standard formula known to physicians and pharmacists as "Whitfield's ointment" is a fairly good remedy for all three forms of toe itch, if you'd rather fool with your itch than consult your doctor. This formula is six parts of salicylic acid and 12 parts of benzoic acid in enough petrolatum (petroleum jelly) to make one hundred parts of ointment. Apply it to the affected surface of the skin once daily for a week. Then rest off for a week or two, and if the trouble persists or recurs, another week of daily applications. In many cases it is advisable to reduce the strength of Whitfield's ointment half, by mixing with an equal quantity of plain petrolatum. In all cases it is better to apply the ointment at night, and not put on shoes or otherwise cover the feet until a few hours, at least, after such application.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Irregular Teeth

My baby boy 1 year old has 10 teeth. The upper teeth set and the lower teeth set under so that they almost strike against the roof of his mouth. I am distressed about this and wonder whether anything can be done to avoid an ugly mouth. (Mrs. B. H.)
Answer—The upper front teeth should set out somewhat. If the condition is an actual deformity, it may be corrected. First, you should have the baby examined by your physician, and see that nutrition is right. Then you should take the baby to a dentist, who should have orthodontic work, that is, straightens irregular or deformed teeth and jaws, by various mechanical means. The younger the child the better the result of such treatment.

Edible Molasses

Please tell me where I can obtain honest to goodness molasses that does not contain sulphur dioxide. (E. F. T.)
Answer—A good grocer may supply it. Send a stamped address label and repeat your request and I will mail you the name of a firm that markets such molasses.

Tularemia

I read of a disease called tularemia that infects people who skin or dress rabbits that have diseased livers. I wonder whether my boy is in any danger. He has a wild rabbit as a pet. (M. D. B.)
Answer—I think not. Only seven out of 514 wild rabbit livers examined by health authorities in Washington showed the Bacterium tularemia. Ticks and probably blood sucking flies transmit tularemia from rabbit to rabbit (or other rodents) and from rabbit to man. Many cases of tularemia in man have been traced to infection through cuts, scratches or punctures of the skin by the hands in skinning or dressing the rabbit. A kind of "boil" develops at the site of inoculation, two or three days after inoculation, then fever.

LOOKING BACKWARD

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Thursday, Sept. 24, 1903
Lake Poygan was filled with muskrats according to Appleton hunters who had just returned from there. One trapper was reported to have captured 1,200 one day that week. Ducks were plentiful on both Lake Poygan and Lake Koshong. Louis Stark returned the previous day with fifty which represented one morning's work.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hegner were attending the Seymour fair.

Mrs. C. B. Trade had returned from a few days visit with friends in Chicago.

Attorney F. J. Rooney of Seymour was in the city the previous day on business.

Among the thirty-eight delegates appointed by Gov. La Follette to represent Wisconsin at the National Prison association to be held at Louisville, Ky., Oct. 2 to 5 was Miss Edessa Kuntz of this city, who had recently resigned her position as assistant principal of the Third ward high school in order to accept an appointment to the position as assistant state factory inspector.

Richard Meyer left the previous day for Chicago where he was to visit friends.

TEN YEARS AGO

Thursday, Sept. 19, 1918
The British that day withstood another heavy counter attack coming about 11:30 a. m. Prisoners taken in the previous day's fighting totaled 8,000, while more than 50 guns were captured.

Attorney A. H. Krugmeier had been named as a member of the Republican State Central committee for the Ninth congressional district. It was announced following a Republican state meeting at Madison the previous evening.

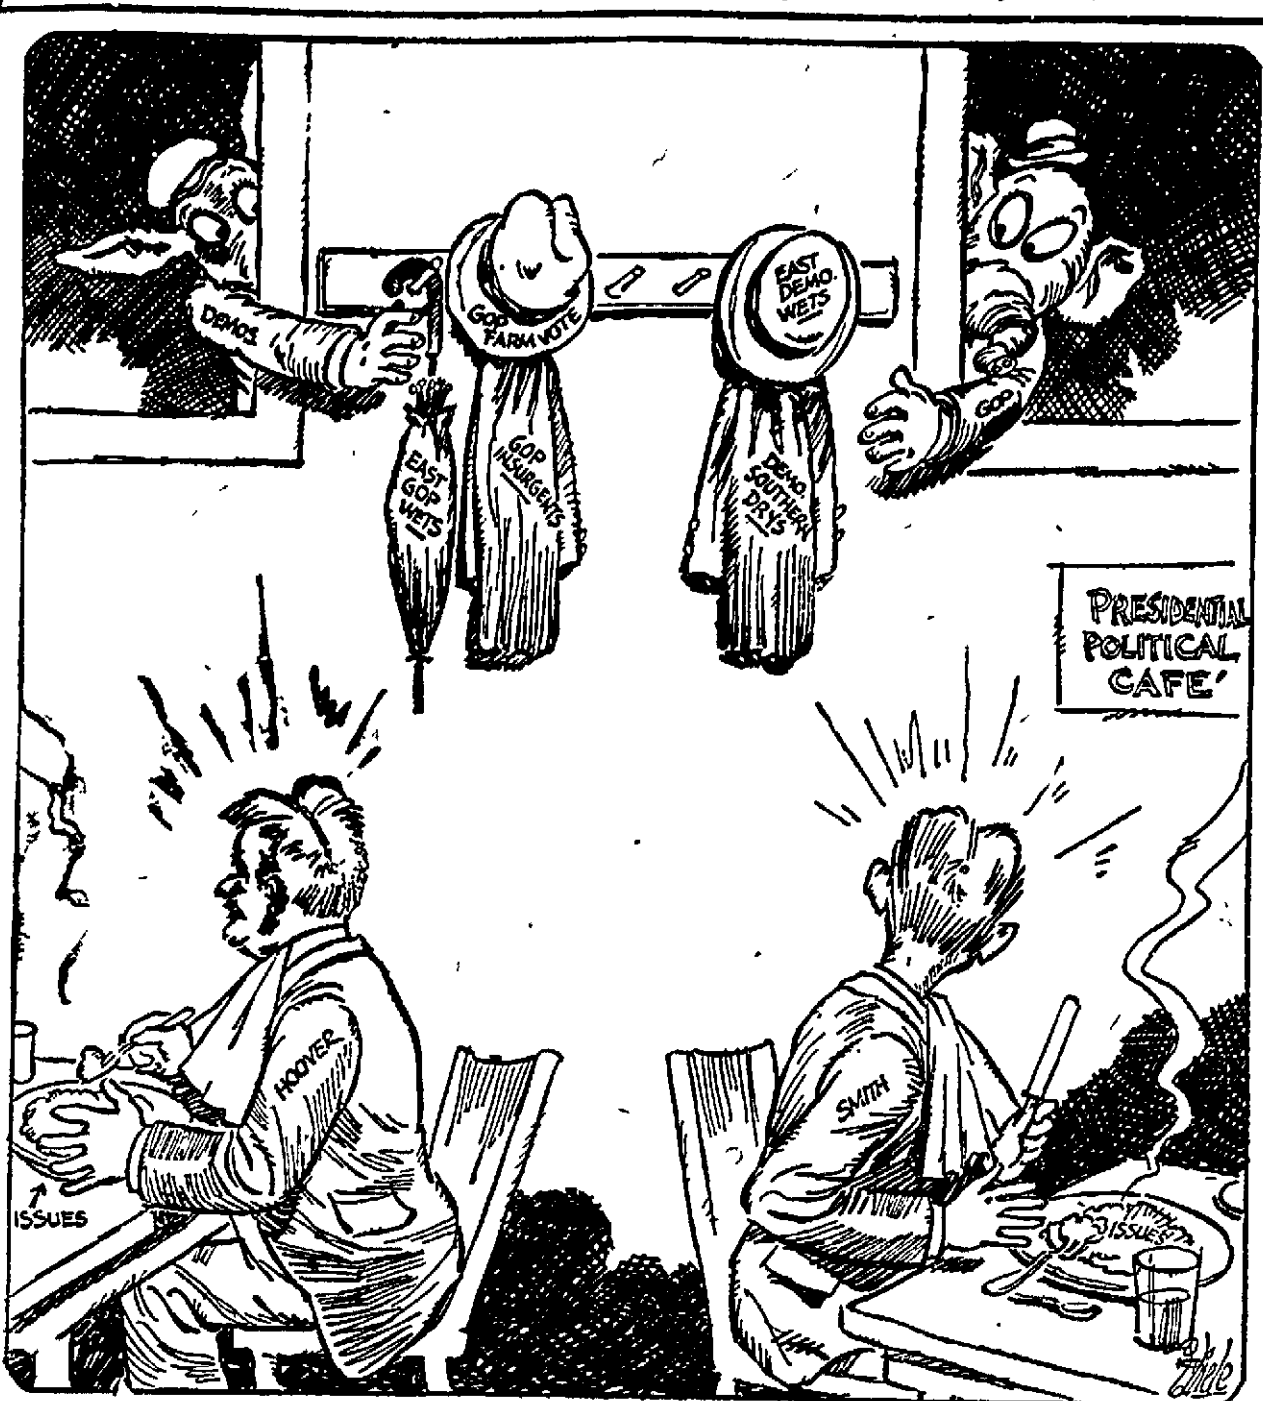

A meeting of the Appleton High School Press club the previous evening was held at the home of Miss Letha Dambach, 547 E. Chestnut.

Thelma was becoming a scarcity was indicated by the fact that a local store allowed but one pound of candy made of sugar or syrup to a customer. Candy containing much fruit or nuts were sold in larger quantities.

Wholesalers and manufacturers notified retail dealers that day that cardboard boxes were to be saved as the government made at any time issue of an order prohibiting the use of boxes.

H. A. Schilf and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Green autoed to Waupaca that morning.

HASKIN WRITES TODAY

Washington D. C. — It may be a real desire for the broadening influence of travel, it may be an inclination to show off, perhaps it may be a yearning for beverages not readily obtainable in good quality in the United States but, from whatever cause, American foreign travel annually increases. Figures are not yet available on this season's expenditures abroad but last year they amounted to $750,000,000 according to a compilation made by the Department of Commerce, all of this being spent overseas. The Dominion of Canada is coming in for an increasing amount of American visitation. The fact that it is so easy to drive into the Dominion probably is responsible. Also there are fewer vexatious spoils of red tape to be unwound in getting across the international border. Moreover, in most of Canada, English is spoken, while if one seeks a touch of the exotic, French is to be had, both as to language and customs, in the Province of Quebec.

William Phillips, American Minister to Canada, in a recent address declared that Americans are spending between $250,000,000 and $300,000,000 a year in touring Canada. In proportion, this is a far greater sum than the $750,000,000 being spent in Europe and other parts of the world. In the first place, American tourists to Europe expend a goodly sum in steamship fares before they even arrive on the foreign shores. Not so in respect of travel to Canada. Relatively low railroad fare or tank full of gasoline will take the American tourist over the border.

And the three quarters of a billion dollars spent in Europe is paid out to an aggregate population more than twice that of the entire United States whereas the millions spent in Canada are distributed among a population only about the size of Greater New York. Mr. Phillips declared in his analysis of the situation that annual increases in visiting numbers indicate that within ten years the sum spent in Canada will exceed half a billion dollars.

Statesmen and diplomats of both the United States and the Dominion are delighted at the development, realizing that a constantly tightening bond of sympathy and understanding is being built up between the two countries. Needless to say, Canadian business men are pleased to see so much wealth come into their country.

WHY DO AMERICANS LEAVE HOME

Just what the allure is it is difficult to say. The United States has scenery of equal grandeur. The Selkirk Mountains, the northern extension of the Rock Mountains, are no more inspiring than our own ranges. Indeed, Canada has nothing comparable to the Grand Canyon of the Colorado and other natural wonders. Of course, Canada offers a relatively cool climate in the summer months and several picturesque cities but if every motorist with a sign posted on his windshield indicating that he had visited Canada were interviewed, surprisingly few would mention any of the large proportion would mention some favorite beverages as constituting one of his most important reasons for crossing the line.

While large number of American tourists in Europe travel in luxury and spend large sums of money in steamship, railroad, and automobile fares and in hotel bills, there is another class which travels light, spends little money and, in all probability, gets more out of the trip. This class is composed largely of students or of school teachers. European travel does not necessarily mean the expenditure of large sums. In fact, there still are plenty of places in Europe where the cost of living is far cheaper than at home.

Railroad travel is possible at an average of 1-1/3 cents per mile as compared to 3 cents and more in the United States. This does not include England where rates are nearer what they are here but relates to the Continent. This, to be sure, is the third class rate. First class is about twice as much but the third class carriages are used by nearly all the traveling students. They have the opportunity, traveling third to mingle with the people, learn the colloquialisms of the various languages, and see a good deal of life.

Third class carriages are about on a par with day coaches in the United States, although divided into small compartments. FOREIGNERS ARE FRIENDLY There are no third class dining coaches, the travelers of this class taking their food and wine with them. Over some of the routes in such countries as Spain and Italy it is customary at meal time for all the passengers in a third class compartment to pool their supplies of food. This gives each greater variety and all become well acquainted. The natives of European countries especially those traveling third class become acquainted very readily with their fellow passengers. They are especially eager to talk to Americans. Exceptions are the English and the Dutch who are very reserved and seldom break the ice.

The standard of living throughout Europe is much lower than in the United States and, for most natives, a railroad journey is an event. The occupants of a third class compartment therefore are in holiday mood and often while away the miles with songs and stories. Someone is almost certain to have a guitar or an accordion.

To give some idea of the cost of railroad travel in Europe, a comparison with American rates can be made. The fare for the thousand mile journey from New York to Chicago is $32 without Pullman accommodation. One can travel the same distance in Europe for $12. Fares per hundred miles are approximately as follows in various European countries: Austria, $1.37; Belgium, $1.05; Czechoslovakia, $1.65; France, $1.38; Germany, $2.08; Italy, $1.50; Holland, $1.97; Spain, $1.77; Switzerland, $2.37; United Kingdom and Ireland, $3.

European dining cars are declared by American tourists to be quite uniformly good although fairly expensive, when compared with other rates. For example, a good meal costs the equivalent of $1 to $1.25. European sleeping cars are not for the poor students who must economize. The first class rate of fare must be paid in the first place and then there is the charge, comparable to the Pullman Company charge in this country. This ranges from $5 to $12 a night depending upon the mileage traveled during the night hours. Third class travelers make themselves as comfortable as they can in their day coach compartments. Perhaps the chief objection American tourists find to being cooped up in a third class compartment for the night is the quite general prejudice of the European against fresh air. Windows frequently are kept tightly closed and the least draught will cause bitter protest.

The Question Box

Information on almost any subject can be secured by sending questions to the Post-Crescent Information Bureau. Frederick F. Haskin, director, Washington D. C. The bureau does not answer questions pertaining to medicine nor does it express opinions on the merits of stocks and bonds. Send a 2-cent stamp or a stamped and self-addressed envelope with your question.

Q. Could a family living in one apartment tamper with the electric meters so that its electricity would be charged to another meter? E. H. A.

A. The Bureau of Standards says that the only way in which the interference referred to could be accomplished is by meddling with the connections to the meters. Electric meters can be and are at times caused to register incorrectly for purposes of fraud. To prevent some of the easier ways of stealing electrical energy by such means, many of the larger companies require the use of meter cabinets, arranged to be sealed by the company, which make it difficult or impossible for the customer to get at the wiring to the meter without breaking the seal.

Q. What causes dew? D. L. A. Three concurrent sources of dew are recognized: the condensation of the moisture of the atmosphere (when dew may be said to fall); the condensation of watery vapor arising from the earth (when dew rises) and the moisture exhaled by plants.

Q. What can be used to get spots out of glass that needs resilvering? M. J. R.

A. The Bureau of Standards says if the glass is scrubbed with a 5 per cent aqueous solution of hydrofluoric acid, the spots may sometimes be removed. Care must be used not to allow the acid to come in contact with the hands.

OLDER FOLK FACE EXAMINATION TIME AS WELL AS YOUTH

Civil Service Exams Are Scheduled for Dec. 8 Throughout State

Madison —(P)— The opening of school for children in the state also means the first batch of examinations for many of the older Bauger folk, civil service department records show.

There are examinations forthcoming for employees in the legislature, for state grain and warehouse inspectors and weighers, for deputy conservations wardens and for deputy fire marshals.

A. E. Garey, civil service commissioner, explained today that male help, especially in stenographic lines is hard to obtain for the legislature. Many women want the legislative posts, he said, but the law provides that only male clerks and stenographers shall work for the legislators.

Special advertising of the civil service examinations which are to be held Dec. 8 will be placed over the state, Mr. Garey said. The applicants will take their examinations in centers near their homes.

The state grain and warehouse commission employees about 65 checkers, weighers, graders and grain experts in ordinary time and more than 100 in rush periods of the year. Examinations for these posts are to be held soon.

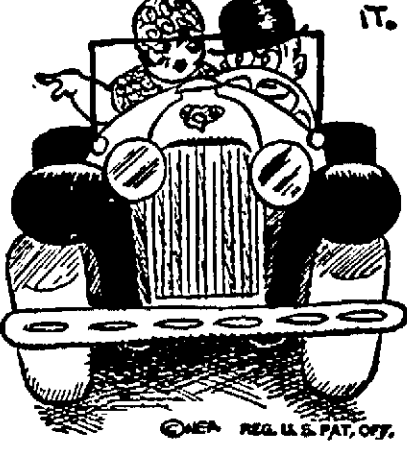

On Sept. 22, the fire wardens' and game wardens' examinations are to be held. These are the first exams, final ones being given to all candidates not eliminated upon application or in the first tests. The final examinations are given in about two centers of the state, gathering the candidates that are successful in the regional applicants' meeting.

The conservation warden deputy applicants are to be filled only after what commissioner Garey considers one of the most rigid tests of the civil service. The examinations are evolved from a long series of experiments in improvement of the requirements, chief warden MacKenzie and Mr. Garey having worked upon them for several years. The candidate must first be under 40 years of age, of exceptionally sound health and physique. Then he must meet other specifications before his application, even, is accepted.

Following this the written tests are given to the successful applicants and about half of them are eliminated in this "positive" test, which requires them to answer questions "yes" or "no" or by filling in missing words, so that they must know their conservation before they can make the correct answers. In the final examination they are to identify the common birds and mammals and fish of Wisconsin, as the final showing of their actual knowledge of Wisconsin wild life.

Mr. Garey said that only the spirited young man with a genuine and general interest in conservation, or those really expected to make good game wardens, are expected to be successful. There are about 55 deputies in the conservation warden department alone, not counting deputies in the fish and forestry department.

Applicants for the post of deputy fire marshal will travel about the same route, as to tests, in obtaining their state jobs. They must be somewhat accomplished in law, to know when they have a good enough case of arson to stand up in court; they must have some ability as a detective in ferreting out information on suspicious fires and they must have some police experience in apprehending persons who have burned buildings.

CHAMBER COMMITTEE SENDS QUESTIONNAIRES

A meeting of the forum committee of the chamber of commerce will be held within the next ten days, according to letters sent out by the chairman, Gustave Keller, Sr., Wednesday. The fall program will be outlined at the first meeting Mr. Keller said in his letter. Questionnaires also were sent out asking members of the committee name topics they would like to have discussed and speakers they wished to hear.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE NOT ALWAYS FATAL

People Suffering from Malady Should Not Give Up Hope

Madison —(P)— While many patients who are told they are suffering from "Bright's" disease, give up hope and assume that they are doomed to an early death, such is not always the case according to Dr. Francis D. Murphy, Milwaukee.

He said that Bright's disease or nephritis, another name given for similar conditions, has sharp differences in its various forms, and consequently sharp differences in its various treatments.

Thus, he said, there is considerable difference in the outlook on life for patients. "For example, a patient with one form of Bright's disease is doomed to die within two to five years; with another form he may live comfortably ten to fifteen years, while with a third form of nephritis the patient may live normally for twenty-five years."

"Therefore it is very essential to know exactly from what type of nephritis an individual suffers. With modern methods of investigation a more accurate diagnosis may be made than was possible years ago and following more accurate and earlier diagnosis a more rational and satisfactory treatment has been developed."

"Nephritis may be entirely checked or the progress of the disease greatly retarded."

Dr. M. G. Peterman, Milwaukee, said that the common cold was one of the greatest problems of medicine, especially in children.

"More children are sick and disabled each year with common colds than with all other diseases combined and complications of the common cold are always dangerous. This is especially true in younger children and infants, who develop infections of the ear and mastoid and of the lung. Children and adults with a cold should be kept isolated as they are with any other contagious disease."

The Milwaukee doctor told of the discovery by Dr. Ruth Tunnell, of a serum for treatment of measles, of the use, since 1928 of this serum in Milwaukee Children's hospital, and of the success in this use. He said almost all the children exposed to measles and treated with the serum had failed to develop the disease.

PLAN STAG FOR MEN IN LOCAL SCHOOL SYSTEM

A stag party for the men employed in the public school system was proposed at a meeting of the principals of the senior and junior high schools at the Lincoln school Tuesday morning. Herbert Hellig of the vocational school is in charge of arrangements.

Plans for the school boy patrol were discussed, and it was decided to have H. J. Adrian of the Wisconsin Automobile association speak at the meeting of the principals next Tuesday.

Fire drill and teachers conventions plans were explained also.

MAN MUST FACE TRIAL ON BAD CHECK CHARGE

M. P. Jury, 825 E. John-st, was arraigned in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg Tuesday on a charge of passing forged checks. He waived preliminary hearing and was bound over for trial on Oct. 1. He was unable to furnish $500 bonds and is being held in the county jail. Jury was arrested Tuesday by Sergeant John Duval, on complaint of two Mackville men who cashed checks for him. The checks were drawn on the First National bank at Antigo and were returned marked "no funds".

THE NEW Saint Sinner By Anne Austin

Even Faith never knew just what happened, just what Bob said to Crystal that night after George and Tony and her crowd and all of them had gone, and Crystal lay, pink-cheeked and bright-eyed on the living room divan, one of George's pink roses held loosely in her fingers.

"I'm going in to say goodnight to Crystal," Bob had said to Faith after the gang had gone, and his voice was the voice Faith always feared just a little. "Do you mind not coming in for a moment?" and he was gone.

Faith heard Crystal's cooed "there's my big shelm cousin Bob" cut short, and then for several minutes there was nothing but the faint rumble of Bob's voice. He came back to the porch as Faith heard Crystal go upstairs, moving not on the slow feet of an invalid, either, but with a quick scamper as if her one haven was the little canary yellow and jade bedroom which Faith had assigned her.

Bob came back to the porch and then his voice was still stern when he spoke to Faith. "Crystal is going to work in the morning," he said. "Let's go to bed, dear. It's almost midnight. Young blood can stand it—suppose Tony and her crowd are just slipping into second gear, but us old married folks—"

Faith thought his face was old indeed and a bit wistful as he looked toward the Tarver house, sparkling with lights and so full of youthful voices and laughter that the over-loud swept up and down the three-lined street.

Crystal did go to work the next morning. Hardly had the door closed on Bob than she was in the dining room, very sober and demure and almost sweet this morning.

Faith wondered more than ever what Bob had said to her, but she knew she would never know. Crystal wondered if she knew, she guessed, for the girl's eyes were ashamed and shamed as she spoke her low "good morning," and Faith felt more love and pity for the girl than she had ever felt before. There was something real there, she knew. It was up to them to bring out the real Crystal.

"Well, here's the flapper of the home," she smiled, "it's so nice to have you to eat breakfast with, duckie. Bob is always so rushed that I can't just really enjoy my breakfast with him. I just sit here, seeing his coffee cup's filled, passing the toast, and reminding him that time is fleeting. It's going to be such fun to really breakfast with you. Do you really feel like working, Crystal? Sometimes an accident like that has shocked one more than one knows."

Crystal was not listening and Faith, though relieved, felt a pang of pity to see no gay flowers on the girl's little coat this morning, no beads around her throat.

"I don't know that I ought to plain it at all on your first day out," said Faith. "But wouldn't you like a ride and dinner, out to Crystal Beach tonight after work? We won't make it an all-family affair. Just Bob and me and maybe Tony Tarver, and one of her young men—if it's not too late to date up Tony and George."

Crystal stopped the nervous breaking of her toast into fragments at that name.

"No, not George," she said. "I really don't believe, Faith, I'd better go out tonight at all. You see, the work is new to me and I'll be tired and—guess I must dash if I make the car," and she left the table so Faith would not see the rush of tears to her eyes.

Will There Be a White House Wedding?

Washington is highly interested in whether John Coolidge (lower right) and Florence Trumbull (upper left), daughter of the governor of Connecticut, will be married in the White House. Fourteen brides have taken the vows there. The stately east room and the blue room (above) have been the scenes of other executive mansion weddings. Alice Roosevelt was married in the east room.

Washington—(P)—Should Florence Trumbull, daughter of the governor of Connecticut, be married to John Coolidge in the executive mansion she will be the fifteenth White House bride.

The last wedding there was that of Eleanor Wilson to William Gibbs McAdoo, then secretary of the treasury. That was May 7, 1924, and Miss Wilson was the fourteenth White House bride. Her sister, Miss Jessie, defied superstition and became the thirteenth bride when she married Francis B. Sayre in the east room November 25, 1913.

A president himself, nieces, daughters and a ward of a chief executive have taken their vows in the stately colonial mansion. Washington is keenly interested in the prospects of a Coolidge-Trumbull wedding in the White House. No announcement has been made, however.

Nellie Grant and Alice Roosevelt chose the east room for their weddings. They had so many guests that this was the only room large enough. When President Cleveland was married to Francis Folsom the blue room was used, as the guest list on that occasion was rather limited.

A White House wedding before Mr. Coolidge leaves office would be regarded as a social climax to a season that so far appears to be one of brilliance.

Lucy Payne, widow of a nephew of George Washington and sister-in-law of President Madison was the first White House bride. She was married March 11, 1815.

The other eleven weddings in the mansion were: Anna Todd of Philadelphia, cousin of Mrs. Madison, wife of the president, and Rep. Edward B. Jackson, a great-uncle of Stonewall Jackson, 1812.

Marie Hester Monroe, daughter of President Monroe, and Samuel Lawrence Gouverneur of New York, 1820.

Mary Hellen, niece of Mrs. Adams and John Adams, son of President John Quincy Adams, February 20, 1823.

Mary Lewis of Nashville, Tenn., a daughter of one of President Andrew Jackson's famous "kitchen cabinet," and Alphonse Joseph Xver, Paget, secretary of the French legation, 1829.

Emily Martin, niece of President Jackson, and Lewis Donaldson, a grandson of Jefferson, 1831.

Mary Eastern, of Tennessee, niece of President Jackson, and Lucien B. Polk, a relative of President Polk 1837.

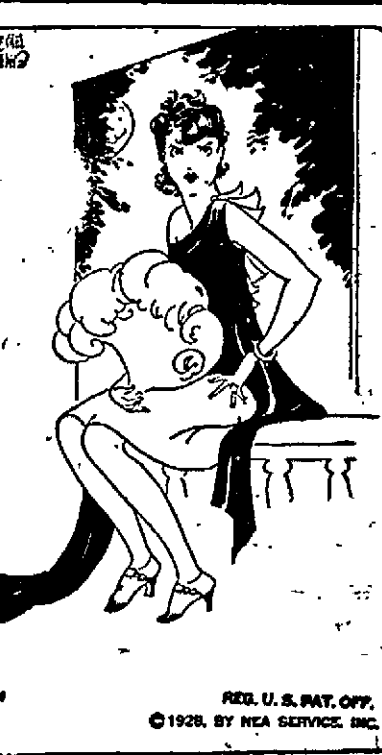

Elizabeth Tyler, third daughter of President Tyler, and William Walker of Williamsburg, Va., 1840.

Nellie Grant, daughter of President Grant, and Algernon C. W. Sartoris, May 21, 1874.

Emily Platt, niece of President Hayes, and General Russell Hastings, formerly lieutenant colonel of Ohio Volunteers, June 19, 1878.

Frances Folsom, the president's daughter and President Grover Cleveland June 2, 1896.

TOMATO SURPRISE
A chilled tomato salad that is really a surprise is one filled with very fresh cottage cheese and nuts. Serve with mayonnaise.

GILT FRAMES
You can clean and polish gilt frames with a cloth dipped into water in which onions have been boiled. Polish with a little chloride of soda.

SUNNY ROOMS
Extra rooms, on the north side of the house, can be made cheerful as sun parlors if the walls are made daffodil yellow.

BRIGHT TOUCHES
When winter approaches, the house should be made cheerful. Flower pots painted a leucure red are a big addition. A red firewood basket or waste basket is another cheery note.

SHOE RACKS
One's closet can be kept much more meticulously if a slanting six inch board is attached along the edge of the baseboard, for a shoe rack.

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

A GAIN the pic squealed, very loud, which pleased the little Tiny Crew. "Hey, what's the matter?" Carry cried. "Is squealing how you sing?" "Well, I should say not," snapped the pig. "If you were me, you'd dance a jig. This barber's razor's very dull. It pulls like everything."

The barber dog then said, "Ah, me! You skin's as tender as can be, but if you'll wait a minute I will soap your face some more. I'll sharpen up my razor, too. Most anything to quit you. And then you must hold still or else your face will be all sore."

The Tinys watched the barber soap the pig's face. Clowny said, "I hope I never have to go through that. Suppose you'd get a taste." Here's goes!" He dobed poor Clowny on the nose, and laughingly said, "Tardon me! I had some soap to waste."

The other's chuckled loud and long. "You see, you always get in wrong," said Carry. "You should never talk to folks you do not know." The bunch then watched the barber shave the pig, who seemed to love to rave. "Come on," exclaimed one Tiny. "It is time for us to go."

"I cannot stand to hear a squeal. That noise to me does not appeal. There must be something else that we can see, and quite enjoy." They walked along and hipped, and hopped. Then suddenly wee Scouty stopped. He gazed off in the distance. Then he shouted, loud, "Oh, boy!"

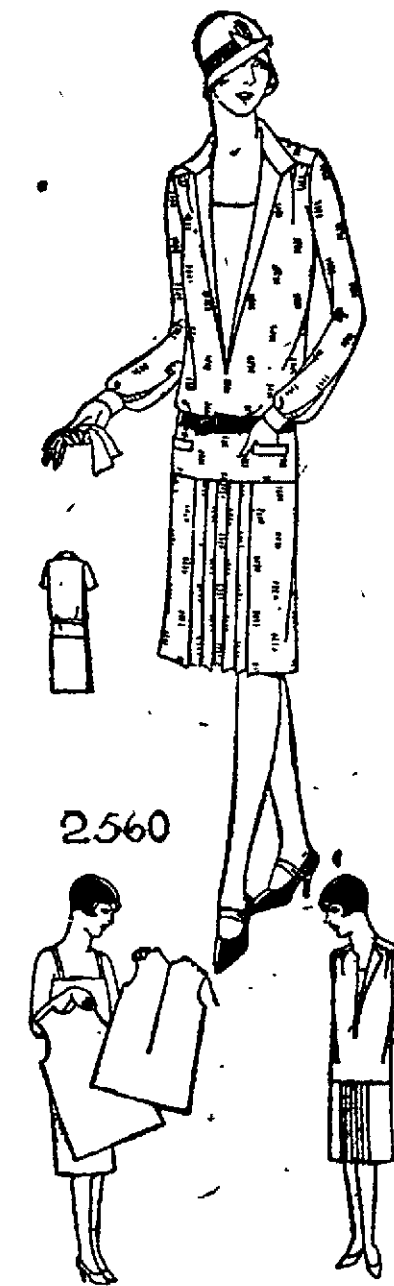

"Just see the dogs and little cats. They all have on their coats and hats. And look! They're holding books. They do not do that as a rule." Then Carry, with a knowing grin, turned to the rest and broke right in. "Why, shucks, I know what that is for. They all are bound for school."

(The Tinymites peek in the school-house in the next story.)

Men's Necks Will Shine

Shiny new rayon ties in decided patterns: (left) a deep Belgian blue double-dotted in light blue and silver; (below), a new moire, with embroidered Chinese scroll in self-color; a smart Scotch plaid scarf, in tans, brown and red; (upper right), a modernistic tan, gold and brown tie, and below, the half-circle of gold on black. Right, a striking tie in geometric design in copper, old gold and black.

BY CURTIS WOOD

NEW YORK—It looks as if the tie that binds the neck of the well-dressed man this winter will be as shiny as a new wedding ring. For there seems to be a drive towards the figured rayon ties.
Rayon has made the grade socially and a premium is put upon four-in-hands or bows of it.
There's a difference of opinion about the color of winter ties. There are those that insist that it should be a season of subdued accessories to give the breaks to the new colors in suits.
But if you judge by what the smart men's wear shops are showing, it is going to be a winter of larger figures in neckwear, and more defined color for the patterns will be significantly brought out by rayon.
Blues, reds and tans are in the foreground, for color. The lavender tie is still the topic of a debate because interpid dressers insist it's a good choice for ties while conservative men have never taken to it. Green is found in some measure, but is rather on the wane.
A group of the new rayon ties that are typical of smart neckwear for winter include the following: one of a deep Belgian blue with dots of silver and lighter blue; one with a double-diamond figure in tan and rust on a deep brown background; a moire pattern of a crimson shade, with raised embroidered pattern in Chinese scroll of self-color; a finely patterned tie of gold half-dots forming lines on a black background and one of the new Scotch plaid scarfs in cream, tans, browns and a touch of red.
The vogue for ties of finely patterned stripes, checks and so on is over for the present. Illustrative of the striking designs this winter is a four-in-hand in a copper, old gold and black rayon, in a design that puts solid cubes of copper against open squares of black finely threatened with old gold.

Report On Girl Camp Is Given

A report on the annual Girl Scout camp at Onaway was made by Miss Eleanor Strickland and Agnes Vaneman Shipman at the meeting of the Appleton Girl Scout committee held at the Womans club Wednesday evening. Mrs. L. C. Sleeper, chairman of the committee, presided.

The directors reported that with the cooperation of local merchants it had been possible to stay within the budget assigned to the camp. The total receipts were $1,314 and total expenditures were $1,221.51. Food for the camp cost $499.80, and rent and fuel, the next largest item, cost $162.

The total attendance at the camp, which was held from June 28 to July 12, was 165, with 60 who stayed the entire two weeks.

The camp was organized, as usual, on the patrol system, each patrol lecturing a leader, who in turn lectured to the campers. Morning classes were required, and the girls had their choice of Girl Scout work, nature, handicraft, folk dancing, dramatics, life saving, and swimming. Informal activities included baseball, volleyball, dodge ball, tumbling and other stunts. The weather made outdoor cooking and overnight hikes impractical.

Several dramatic events were presented, including The King of Sherwood, a folk festival, The Forest of the Helpers, and The Bringing in a Birthday Cake.

It was suggested at the meeting in the 1929 camp be extended to a five week period, with some of the older and younger girls, so that the weekly fee of $6.00 be changed to $5.50 to take care of additional rent.

A discussion of the national Girl Scout convention to be held at Colorado Springs, Colo., Oct. 9-13, was held, but it was decided that no one from Appleton would attend.

TOWNSLARGE CROWD HEARS
DEBATORS DISCUSS
SMITH AND HOOVERNorthwestern University
London City Hall

Special to Post-Crescent—New London—The debate between Herbert C. Hoover and Alfred E. Smith, held at the city hall on Wednesday evening called out a large and very representative crowd of interested listeners. The debate was carried on by two representatives of the speech service school of the Northwestern university.

The man and his platform, his accomplishments and achievements were reviewed by Mr. Carter who spoke in favor of Mr. Hoover. The latter's work for Belgian relief, for the food administration, and as secretary of commerce, and his record in the various bills introduced and passed were named as sound reasons for his candidacy for president. Two factors the speaker declared to be the outstanding ones in the present issue, the first being Mr. Hoover's years of service in the work for farm relief; the second being his antagonism to the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. The debator asked his opponent, Mr. Clinton, to prove that the last issue had not been a success, stating that in liquor traffic there would always be certain numbers of violations, but gave as evidence of the faith of its ultimate success the opinions of men such as Henry Ford, who state that since prohibition there has been a steady decrease in drunkenness, that more working people own their own homes and that in the end all countries will be driven to prohibition by force of circumstance.

Holding up the national congress as a barometer of American opinion, he maintained that there were more and more dry representatives elected to office each year. He quoted statistics from the District of Columbia from Ontario, Quebec and other provinces of Canada to show that the plan favored by Alfred E. Smith as the best to fit American needs in the regulation of liquor has not been a success, in that more hard liquor has been consumed under the present plan in those districts than ever before. He challenged Mr. Clinton to show one bill introduced by his candidate which would cope with the situation.

GIVES SMITH RECORD

In reply Mr. Clinton called the labeling of Mr. Smith as unfit in every way to meet the requirements of the people of the United States as president, unjust and unsupported. He asked for open minds while the career, the aims and platform and the fitness of his candidate was analyzed. He questioned the fairness of his opponent to two primary issues. The speaker also referred to Mr. Hoover's position on the Teapot Dome corruption and stated that the latter knowledge of crime and remained silent. He cited the letter said to have been received by Mr. Hoover concerning the developments during the Harding administration, which had definite information as to the oil scandal then brewing, and that he remained silent throughout. Such a man, said the speaker, is not worthy to follow in the unwavering, untarnished way as exemplified by men of the Lincoln and Washington types.

Mr. Hoover charged Mr. Clinton, has never denied that knowledge. Following up his rebuttal of primary issues Mr. Clinton asked, "If Mr. Hoover's record of 33 years is so superior, if it is so clear that he is the man to solve the farmers' problem tell me, why is it that the farmers do not know it?"

He named experts from Minnesota and Illinois who have the enforcement of millions of farmers who are militantly opposed to Hoover and endorse Smith, because of the fact that Hoover has never done anything in all his period of service other than block farm relief, showing in every way that he is the arch enemy of farm interests.

He showed the conditions of agriculture at the beginning of the regime of the G. O. P. steadily declining, until at the present time he alleged it is prostrate.

In reiterating his faith in Mr. Smith on the liquor question, Mr. Clinton stated that there is not a man or woman anywhere possessing intelligence, who is not opposed to liquor traffic and offered Smith's record of integrity and honesty in dealing with the question should he become president. He pointed out the failure of prohibition in Canada and Sweden to prove that the same plan is not a workable one here.

OPERA SINGER DOES
REVUE FOR VACATION

Berlin—(AP)—Michael Bohnen, baritone of the Metropolitan Opera of New York and the State Opera of Berlin, has become a musical comedy star.

Night after night he impersonates the role of Casanova in a musical revue, not only because he is paid well, but chiefly because he finds the opera too stilted and rigid to permit of unfolding his whole ability as an actor.

"All of us, who are moving within the rigid circle of operatic forms, regulations, and traditions, find ourselves fettered in a manner that we cannot either go to pieces slowly but surely or else lose individuality," he confided. "That's why I am now spending my time on a different kind of stage."

"In the musical revue, everybody tries to give something of his own personality, to widen the possibilities of dramatic expression."

STAGE And SCREEN

BILLIE DOVE ON SCREEN IN BIG DRAMATIC STORY
Billie Dove, popular First National star, comes to the screen of the Elite Theatre, once more in "The Night Watch," her latest starring production. This highly dramatic story will open its local engagement on Friday and promises to be one of the most popular pictures in which Miss Dove has appeared as a star. Alexander Korda, who directed her in "The Yellow Lily" and "The Stolen Bride," also directed this production, which is based on the stage success of a few seasons ago, "In The Night Watch."
Donald Reed and Paul Lukas play opposite Miss Dove, with a strong cast in support.

FRANCIS X. BUSHMAN, JR.
If anyone ever had his career carved out for him it was Francis X. Bushman, Jr., son of the original screen matinee idol whom he greatly resembles. That he will duplicate his father's screen triumph goes without saying.
John Ford gave him his first big chance by casting him for one of the sons in the Fox Picture, "Four Sons," coming to the Elite Theatre for 7 days starting Monday.

"THE FOREIGN LEGION"
Thrilling adventure, exotic romance, picturesque scenes and characters and a stirring story of love and revolt were all found in one picture yesterday when Universal's gripping production, "The Foreign Legion," opened at Fischer's Appleton Theatre yesterday for showing Wednesday and Thursday only.

Not for a long time has an audience here seen a picture that equalled "The Foreign Legion" in any of the above features. None will soon forget the horror of the iron discipline, the faithful situations in which the hero is thrown or the remarkable character which causes him to fall—a ravishing beauty, a hot-blooded and deadly.

Two of the sequences remain in the mind especially because of their realism and beauty. One of them is the sand storm on the desert, catching the soldiers of the Foreign Legion unaware. The other is the trial scene in the courtroom. For these two sequences alone, the picture is worth going to see.

Norman Kerry and Lewis Stone, two of the best known actors on the screen, undoubtedly do the finest work of their long and successful careers in the starring roles. Kerry as Richard, the unfortunate victim of circumstances and Stone as his unknown father, Colonel Destinn, have opportunities for acting, that rarely come in other pictures. Needless to say, both of these skillful players make the most of them.

The supporting cast is also good. Mary Nolan as the unprincipled blonde and June Marlow as the girl-sweetheart appear to great advantage. Miss Nolan, a former Folies beauty, received her screen training in Germany, which partially explains her success in this exotic role. Crawford Kent and Walter Perry also do good work.

Thousands of persons have read "The Red Mirage," by I. A. R. Wylie, from which "The Foreign Legion" was adapted. The full flavor of the book has been retained in the film version.
Edward Sloman's skillful direction was responsible for a good part of the entertainment value of the production.

NEW FRUIT STORE IS STARTED NEAR DEPOT

A new retail fruit and vegetable store has been opened by Mayer Shapiro on N. Appleton-st., south of the old Chicago and Northwestern freight depot. The old structure which formerly stood there has been remodeled and repaired. A new front was put in on the east side, and the rear end of the structure has been entirely remodeled.

WISCONSIN CROPS SHOW GREAT IMPROVEMENT IN MONTH

SEPTEMBER REPORT MOST OPTIMISTIC IN RECENT YEARS

Grains, Potatoes and Tobacco Outlooks Called Exceptionally Good

Madison—(P)—One of the most optimistic crop reports ever issued by the federal state crop reporting service came from that department last week. It said that Wisconsin crops have continued their improvement during the last month, that after a late start and unfavorable weather during the spring and early summer, condition changed sharply and since that time progress has been one of the most remarkable on record.

The report indicated that July was an exceptionally favorable month in Wisconsin and that the favorable weather continued during August. "During the first part of the latter month, weather was dry and during the last half there was an abundance of rain."

Here are some of the ways in which the report might be summarized:

Grain Crops: After a bad lot of winter crops, due to severe winter killing, spring crops came out "exceptionally good." Barley: "exceptionally good." Rye, production cut somewhat. Wheat low production but generally a crop better than fair. Corn: crop highly favorable to livestock industry.

Potatoes: particularly favorable. Tobacco: "one of the state's finest crops."

The report, which follows, indicated that unlike Wisconsin, the country's whole crop averages appeared little better this month than last.

GOOD GRAIN CROPS

This year's crop of spring wheat small grains have been exceptionally good. The winter grains were poor due to extreme winterkilling and unfavorable weather early in the spring. According to the September forecast, the Wisconsin oat production this year is 106,661,000 bushels as compared with 93,247,000 last year, or an increase of 14 per cent with only a slightly larger acreage than a year ago.

Barley also is a wonderful crop in most sections of the state, a crop of 26,061,000 bushels being forecasted as compared with 21,390,000 last year. A 17 per cent increase in barley acreage is bringing about a 22 per cent increase in production.

Rye production, on the other hand, is estimated at a little over two million bushels as compared with four million last year, or a decrease of 50 per cent. Winter wheat, likewise, shows an unusually low production, it being estimated at about 48 per cent of last year's crop. Spring wheat is a fairly good crop, though somewhat less will be produced in the state due to a decrease in acreage. Some damage was done to grain in the shock by rain.

Corn and feed crops have made good progress during the past month, and the outlook is for a 25 per cent increase in corn over last year. This is highly favorable to Wisconsin's livestock industry because it tends to offset, in a considerable measure, the poor hay crop which was harvested this year. It is now estimated that the early time hay cuttings were over 30 per cent below last year. Some storm damage to corn is reported by crop reporters.

LARGE POTATO CROP

The potato crop has been particularly favored so far and a large crop is in prospect. The Wisconsin production is now estimated somewhat over 34 million bushels as compared with slightly under 24 million last year, or an increase of approximately 45 per cent. The crop is not fully made, however, and the danger of disease and frost damage is still considerable. All indications now are that a very large potato harvest is in prospect in Wisconsin, however.

WINE TOBACCO OUTLOOK

The 1928 Wisconsin tobacco crop will go down in history as one of the fine crops in the state from the standpoint of quality and yield per acre. The acreage is not as large as it has been in former years, but it is estimated that Wisconsin will produce about 45 1/2 million pounds of tobacco this year as compared with slightly over 33 million last year. The northern tobacco in the state is running more uniform than that in the southern counties and the yields in the northern counties promise to be higher than in the southern.

U. S. POSTOFFICE BUYS ENVELOPES BY BILLION

Washington—(P)—Twelve billion eight hundred million envelopes and newspaper wrappers which are to outfit the peoples' communications for the next four years will soon be contracted for by the United States postoffice department.

Every four years the supply of these articles on sale at various postoffices over the country is about exhausted and bids are opened for a new lot. These bids are now being received by Postmaster General New. The contract will be awarded after September 17.

Newspaper publishers use most of the stamped wrappers while business firms buy most of the stamped envelopes. Many business men, however, use the business envelope for their personal correspondence as well, and all kinds of messages will go skimming by air and rail under cover of the new lot of envelopes.

WORD SWORDS

Savannah, Ga.—Many business men today apparently depend largely on efficient stenographers for spelling correctness. In a "spelling bee" in the Kiwanis club here simple words such as "usable," "dependable," "visitors," and "autumn" proved experts to slip the "boasters' light and left. "Incompetent" fell, one of the two survivors.

INSPECTS REGIONS VISITED BY BORER

Kewaunee-co Agent Returns from Trip to 3 States and Canada

BY W. F. WINSEY

Kewaunee—H. R. Lathrop, county agent, has lately returned from an inspection trip of the corn borer territory of Michigan, Indiana, Ohio and Canada. He was very much surprised at the amount of work the U. S. government laboratory at Monroe is doing in the development of means for the control of the corn borer and at the indifference of a large number of farmers whose corn fields are infected with the pest.

Mr. Lathrop not only visited the laboratory but he personally inspected a number of fields to get first hand information. After he had inspected a field that was badly infested, he often found that the owner knew nothing about the pest or the presence of the corn borer. In a number of such cases, the county agent, fresh from a field showed the owner cornstalks containing from four to twenty-five corn borers at work. Beside corn growers, he talked with farm machinery agents and business men doing business in infected districts, that knew nothing at all or very little about the ravages of the corn borer, and appeared indifferent.

MRS. GENZ CANS OVER 200 QUARTS IN SEASON

New London—Mrs. William Genz, town of Liberty housewife, has to her credit more than 200 quarts of fruit and vegetables, canned during the past season, all by home sterilization system. None but tin containers were used. Mrs. Genz has been completely won over to this new departure in home canning, because of the excellent flavor and color of products preserved in this manner. Beans baked in the usual manner are canned by Mrs. Genz and the flavor when taken from the cans is said to be identical as when they were first prepared. Chicken, beef, veal and pork is canned in various sized cans, while sauerkraut canned in the same manner undergoes no loss as when kept in stone jars after the old-fashioned manner.

CORN WILL SUPPLEMENT STATE'S SHORT HAY CROP

Madison—(P)—Corn will be used this year to supplement the short hay crop on many Wisconsin farms, in the opinion of G. C. Humphrey of the animal husbandry department at the Wisconsin college of agriculture. He believes that the dairymen of the state may find that this year's hay shortage is made up, to a certain extent, by what promises to be a bumper corn crop. Humphrey advises complete filling of silos and taking good care of corn that is not in the silo. He says that bright fodder and stover compare favorably as feed with timothy hay in many cases. Bright straw is recommended for dairy cows, idle work horses and some growing animals.

PREDICT LESS PLANTING OF WHEAT THIS AUTUMN

Columbus, O.—Discouraged by partial failure of the wheat crop this year, farmers of the United States will plant fewer acres to wheat this fall than they did last fall, according to the department of rural economics of Ohio State University. The department bases its prediction on reports from nearly 20,000 farmers in Ohio, who intend to sow winter wheat acreage about two per cent lower than last year's. On this percentage, it is estimated, a total of about 46,500,000 acres will be sown this year against 47,500,000 acres last fall.

CHAMPION HERD

A herd of Ayrshire cows owned by Leonard Tufts of Placerville, N. C., held the lead in quantity and quality production of milk and butterfat over all the herds in this count, in June. The herd's average production was 1081 pounds of milk and 45 pounds of fat.

POOR PRUNES NO MORE!

The most important dried prune producing section in the world is right here in the United States. California produces 56 per cent of the world production of this fruit.

KNOWS HIS OATS

The state record for North Carolina for oat production this year goes to W. L. Morris, of Cabarrus County, with 10 bushels to the acre.

Vocational Agriculture Offered At Shiocton H.S.

BY W. D. BROWNSON

Agricultural Instructor at Shiocton Union Free High School

"Six high schools in this state located at Arcadia, Barron, Chilton, Colby, Omro, and Richland Center conducted part-time schools during the past year along the lines of the Wisconsin Folk School plan. In each of these high schools, the department of agriculture was the center about which the folk school was organized. The approval with which this plan has been met, in most cases, indicates that there is opportunity for a considerable extension of this phase of work."

"If plans are made for such a school this year, bear in mind that the Wisconsin folk school is a day, part-time school for boys and girls of high school age not regularly enrolled in high school, and for young adults in case local school authorities are willing for them to attend. There must be twenty or more sessions of at least a half day in length and there must be instruction intended 'to increase the civic as well as the vocational intelligence' of the pupils. The broader curriculum characterizes the folk school in contrast with the part-time classes in agriculture commonly conducted. The aim in the folk school is to provide for both the vocational and civic interests. Separate classes for the folk school pupils must be organized."

OTHER METHODS

"The so-called Wisconsin folk school plan is only one form of effort. The evening classes and special part-time classes in agriculture represent another effort sponsored through the Smith-Hughes vocational organization. Another possibility would be to let qualified capable, industrious young farm people come to the high school regularly for part of each day and take such subjects as they desire. Another conception to further the local service function of the high school would be to permit a few, mature, able, and ambitious ones to pursue high school subjects of their choice and their range of ability even though for some justifiable reason they have not met the formal requirements for high school entrance."

"The Wisconsin folk school plan has the advantage from the standpoint of accessibility, of being a short course with special classes. It has proved unsatisfactory to permit late entering students to enroll in the same classes with regular students. The winter short course for the out-of-school group is the most far reaching and effective solution of the problem. The chief difficulty is to finance it. The greatest hope is to finance it in this field is that there will be sufficient public recognition of the need for such work in each locality that the resources of the state will be pledged in a measure adequate to the cause."

The above is quoted from an article in the Wisconsin Projector, a monthly bulletin published in the interests of the departments of vocational agriculture in Wisconsin.

Shiocton high school is the only school in Outagamie-co offering vocational agriculture in a Smith-Hughes course. The services of a variegated course that is adaptable to the needs, as is here described is offered in this department.

Plans are being laid for an enlarged program of part-time instruction in the Shiocton Department of Agriculture. What type of instruction this will be will depend upon the needs and demands of the community. If there is great enough demand a Folk School comprising of twenty or more meetings of half day length may be organized. If this does not seem feasible, at least opportunity will be offered of two part-time or evening schools in different parts of the community. The county agent is cooperating with the agricultural instructor in promoting this short course study work.

The success of any plans of part-time instruction depends upon the response and demands of the people in the community. If any school is to be held there must be some one who is willing and eager to attend. The part-time school is for the one who wants to get more training and is unable to attend the regular high school.

SHIOCTON MAKES PLANS TO CONDUCT COMMUNITY FAIR

Committees Are Appointed and Special Features Outlined at Meeting

BY W. D. BROWNSON
Agricultural Instructor at Shiocton Union Free High School

Shiocton—At a meeting of business men, rural and high school teachers, and school board members Tuesday evening of last week, it was decided to hold a Community and Harvest fair at the high school on Saturday, Oct. 27. A premium list of agricultural products, canning, cooking, sewing, and school work exhibits is being made up and will be published shortly. Some features this year will be judging contests in corn and potatoes, rope splicing and home flocks. A public demonstration will be given by a couple of the boys in Shiocton some Saturday for the benefit of any who are interested in improving the poultry flock by this method.

F. Colburn was chosen general manager; Earl Kleiber, treasurer; Raymond Steward, chairman of publicity committee; Miss Lucille Wilcox was elected chairman of the program committee; Ernest Spohr is to act as exhibit supervisor. The agriculture department, high school faculty, county superintendent, office force, and the county agent are co-operating in the work.

POULTRY CULLING MEET

The boys in the agriculture classes held a poultry culling demonstration at the Allen Barker home last Friday afternoon. Several of the boys now say they are going to cull their own flocks. A public demonstration may be given by a couple of the boys in Shiocton some Saturday for the benefit of any who are interested in improving the poultry flock by this method.

TRY NEW FEEDS

If two farmers in Bovina township carry out their intentions they will have a new feed for the cows next winter. Leon Kennedy is planning to put a piece of soybeans and sudan grass into the silo, mixing it in his corn as he fills. Mr. Kennedy planted the soybeans and sudan grass as an emergency hay crop. Since he has hay enough and his corn acreage is small he plans to try this mixture. Soybeans and corn is a rather common silage mixture. The addition of the sudan grass will be a new

RECOMMENDS SEED FOR WINTER GRAIN PLANTING

Madison—(P)—For winter grain planting seed, Wisconsin Pedigreed No. 2 wheat, and Wisconsin Pedigreed rye is recommended by R. A. Moore, agronomist at the state college of agriculture.

These varieties have been developed in the state, and have outranked all others in nearly every section where wheat and rye are grown, Mr. Moore says.

Winter wheat in the state should be planted during the first three weeks of September, he says, and rye can be sown up to Oct. 1.

There is no reason why some excellent feed would not result. Another farmer is thinking some of putting some mangel wurtzel into the silo along with the corn. This may make a softer silage, but will no doubt make a very palatable feed.

ABOUT "AG" TEACHERS

The following article was found among some old papers, and the writer thought it a good thing to think about.

1. When there are farm boys whose education is being neglected.
2. When other educational influences are leading the capable ones away from the farm.
3. When herds and flocks can be made to increase profits through improvement and care.
4. When better plants and seeds and methods will lower the cost of producing crops.
5. When soils are wanting in fertility.

6. When there are pests and diseases to be held in check by knowledge and application of practical means of prevention.

7. When better mechanics to handle more efficient machines are needed on the farm.

8. When farmers can profit by studying organization and business management and conducting their enterprise accordingly.

9. When learning the experience of others will help the individual farmer.

10. When farm boys and girls can be made happier and more successful by vocational and cultural ideals expressed in more efficient farms, more beautiful and comfortable farm homes, and more serviceable community institutions.

Caution—In districts where the foregoing answers do not apply, it is a foolish waste of time and money to employ an energetic teacher of agriculture.

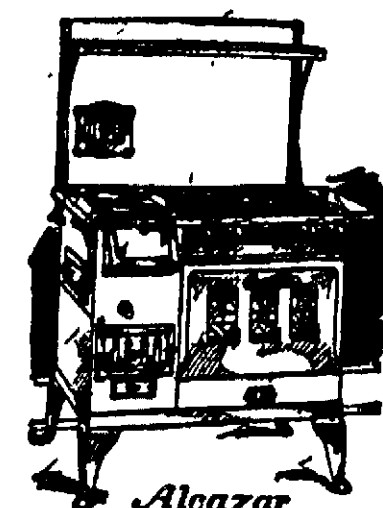

—Wisconsin Projector.

PHILADELPHIA IN WAR TO DEATH ON RULE BY RACKETS

City Determined to Crush Underworld's Highly Efficient Organization

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the ninth of James P. Kirby's series of articles on the alarming spread of the racketeer movement in the nation's big cities. Here, Kirby begins the story of Philadelphia.)

BY JAMES P. KIRBY
Philadelphia—The "City of Brotherly Love" is such no longer. The city of the traditional mild-mannered Quaker, like others in the front rank in America, today is engaged in a desperate struggle to rid itself of the festering sore of racketeering. Twenty gang murders, some of them exceptionally brutal, were committed during the past year.

Money talked—or guns barked, as racketeers collected their fortunes in tribute, mostly from Philadelphia's speakasies, estimated to number 18,000.

"Machine guns roared their leaden hail into those who crossed the racketeers' path; other guns equipped with silencers sent noiseless death from secret places; leading gangsters wore bullet-proof vests for protection.

Ten million dollars a year is the estimate made by loyal Philadelphians on the amount the racket exacted through the amazing system of corruption and collusion permitting its existence.

PROBE UNDER WAY
This picture of terrorism and graft walked District Attorney John Monaghan a few weeks ago—a keen-eyed, iron-jawed and resolute prosecutor, utterly fearless and determined to smash "the system." The vigor of Monaghan's grand jury investigation shows that he means business and already the underworld—and also some men now in high places—are quaking in fear of what is to come.

As one observes the operations of the racketeer in Chicago, St. Louis, Detroit, Cleveland and other typical American cities and finds the slimy trail of the Chicago operators, so also in Philadelphia does one encounter the relationship between those forces and the local underworld.

"Scarface Al" Capone, the ruler of Chicago's racketeers, is the friend and advisor of Max "Boo-Hoo" Hoff, the prize fight promoter who is the overlord of Philadelphia's underworld.

Capone has visited Hoff on numerous occasions, it has been developed by District Attorney Monaghan. Nor were Capone's visits merely social calls.

The astounding business methods which have made Capone the ruler of all he surveys in Chicago were quickly adopted by Hoff and his associates in the racket here. The degree of efficiency with which it worked, almost excites one's admiration.

As in Chicago, the booze racket in Philadelphia is organized down to the last detail. Big business showed the way when it established arbitration as a means of settling disputes, and organized crime quickly adopted such methods to its purposes.

UNDERWORLD HAS ARBITRATOR

In the booze racket in Philadelphia today there exists an arbitrator (and it is believed by Monaghan that he was appointed by Hoff) whose duty it is to iron out disputes over territory, prices, saloons, speakasies, and even the personnel. And the arbitrator's decisions are final.

The holding company, the device of big business used for the purpose of more effectually handling (and frequently of concealing) certain transactions not deemed suitable to the public gaze, is another device adopted by the racket.

Securely locked in the vaults of the district attorney's office are the books and records, the corporation documents, of the Franklin Mortgage and Investment Company, the holding company organized by Hoff and his partners, Charles Schwartz and Samuel Lazar. Schwartz is now under indictment in the federal court in Cleveland, as one of 110

In Philadelphia's Spotlight

1—District Attorney John Monaghan of Philadelphia county, nemesis of the racketeers, who is leading the grand jury investigation into their activities. 2—Max "Boo-Hoo" Hoff, Philadelphia prize fight promoter and overlord of the city's underworld. 3—Patrick McKewen, chief of Monaghan's county detectives, holding two gun silencers used by gangsters to split noiseless death.

conspirators to violate the national prohibition act.

And these books and documents disclose amazing things. For example, entries made and kept with remarkable precision, are shown therein. Other records of a firm of public accountants also seized by the district attorney disclose payments as high as $10,000 at a time to high police officials and others.

Intermittently, through the maze of stories that fill Philadelphia newspapers, there appears the name of Congressman Benjamin M. Golder of Philadelphia, one of the organizers and, until recently, secretary of the "investment company."

It was Golder, who when Schwartz was to be taken back to Cleveland from Philadelphia by federal officers, represented Schwartz as counsel.

On the day Schwartz was to be called into federal court, Golder caused subpoenas to be issued for every Charles Schwartz in the telephone book and the city directory, and the perplexed federal officers from Cleveland, never having seen the man they sought, could not establish to the court's satisfaction which one of the dozen or more

Charles Schwartz in the courtroom was the man they sought.

WEAR BULLET-PROOF VESTS
It was "Boo-Hoo" Hoff who introduced the machine gun, the silencer for the automatic pistol, and the bullet-proof vest to Philadelphia.

Edward S. Goldberg, proprietor of a military goods store, now under bond of $10,000 on a charge of perjury brought by Monaghan, has admitted that he sold Hoff three machine guns and six bullet-proof vests in 1927.

Somewhere in the resorts of North Jersey, the racket maintained "a shooting range for the practice in arms of its delinquent members."

Racketeers who have earned the ill-will of the boss are today serving sentences in the Eastern and Western penitentiaries, following conviction on evidence framed by the racket.

Of the 20 gang murders in the last year, the majority are known to have been the result of the sentence pronounced by the racket upon those who have violated the code.

The saloonkeeper, the dive-keeper and the bootlegger have been kept in line by the simple expedient of force and violence to insure his adherence to the rules of the game as laid down by the racket's arbitrator.

True, he paid for the protection he received at the hands of the racket, and he was thus spared the trouble and expense of paying for the official protection of vulnerable police and other officers, for whom the racket assumed responsibility.

EVERY MUSIC GRAD OF LAWRENCE HAS JOB, BAKER SAYS

More Teachers Could Be Placed if They Were Available at This Time

For the sixth consecutive year all graduates of the public school music department of Lawrence, Kansas, have been engaged to have charge of music work in city schools in Wisconsin or outside the state, according to Dr. Earl Baker, director of the course.

If the conservatory had a dozen more teachers available they could all be placed because the demand for music teachers trained at Lawrence college exceeds the number of graduates each year, he indicated.

At present the public school music department has an enrollment of 80 but more could be accommodated.

Lawrence college has one of the strongest public school music departments in the country, according to Dr. Baker.

Graduates are placed in positions that pay from $1,350 to $2,500 per year and while the college does not guarantee to secure positions for all its graduates yet it has done so for the past six years. At present the conservatory has three openings at salaries of $2,500 but there are no teachers to fill them.

As proof that the fame of Lawrence's music teachers has spread throughout the United States, Dr. Baker pointed that Miss Mildred Evans, a graduate in this year's class, is to have charge of the work in schools at Cleton, Arizona, this year.

EXPANDING RAPIDLY
"Although this department has been established but a comparatively short time at the college, it has grown into one of the strongest courses of its kind," Dr. Baker said.

"Girls or boys, graduates of an accredited high school, who have any musical talent, will find there is an excellent field for their endeavors in the public schools music course."

The public school music course covers a period of three years although a student may remain at college a year longer to obtain a degree. The first year students receive the groundwork and lay the foundation for their future teaching experiences. First they study children and how to approach them. They also study musical appreciation, learn to teach rote songs, study the science of teaching children to read music and learn how to project rhythm, harmonies and psychology.

GETS REAL EXPERIENCE
Students receive two years of actual experience in teaching music, under skilled supervision in the public and parochial schools of the city. At the beginning of the second year the student is assigned a certain grade for which he is responsible. He teaches music to this grade for the entire year, putting in to actual practice the material he is studying in the course.

In addition to this actual teaching experience the student learns how to test voices of children, has further music appreciation, rhythm and chromatics, studies, does some music composition work and learns from memory groups of songs used in teaching.

The third year the student has the most strenuous work. His teaching experience in this year is confined to junior and senior high school work. He learns how to test voices for three and four-part work. He also learns how to project music in a community and how to conduct teachers' meetings, and he continues his musical appreciation, music composition, psychology, rhythm and chromatic work. It is in this year that he enters the musical research department which has made splendid strides in recent years.

Besides this work the student is required to carry a number of courses in the regular college curriculum. This includes English, history, psychology and education and he also may choose several other subjects. During the three years the student studies piano, organ, violin and voice, he also delves into theory and must learn to play every band instrument which he is physically capable of handling.

APPRAISE YOURSELVES, STUDENTS ARE ADVISED

"The master workman is his own appraiser or he is always mediocre," said Dr. R. L. Lyman, professor of English at the University of Chicago, in his Matriculation Day address to students of Lawrence college Wednesday morning.

"We must get over the idea that appraising oneself is finding weaknesses in the product," said Dr. Lyman. "We grow by our successes and not our failings." He continued by saying that the "educational process is one where the learner appraises his own work under the guidance of an older collaborator, the professor."

Professor Lyman urged the students to stand outside of themselves so that they could get a clear perspective on what they were doing and appraise their own work.

INDIAN SENT TO JAIL FOR STEALING TIRE

Henry Baird, 18, an Onondaga Indian, was sentenced to the county jail for 15 days by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Tuesday when he pleaded guilty of attempting to steal a tire from an automobile at Onondaga Sunday night. Baird was arrested by Peter J. Blanshaw, county motorcycle officer, who caught him in the act of carrying off the tire. The judge imposed a fine of $25 and costs and when Baird told him he was unable to pay it he gave him the alternative of spending 15 days in jail.

RIPON STARTS FIRST BEAR STORY GOING

Ripon (AP)—Casualties already have slowed up practice of the Ripon college football team. The first one came Wednesday when Arno Bahrs, 200 pound fullback and former captain, suffered a serious knee injury in scrimmage with the reserves.

Capt. Fred Heim, former Milwaukee Bay View star, received a bad slash over the eye. Coach Carl Doehling will continue to use him in drills, however.

THIRTY YEARLINGS ANSWER CALL FOR FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

Seven Appleton Youths Among Those Reporting at First Practices

Although there are thirty freshmen footballers cavorting out on Whitting field, there's nothing to rave about with reference to individual stars. Only six of the men have admitted any knowledge of the grid game and indications are Coach Joseph Trepanitis has his work all cut out for him.

The yearlings have been given a few fundamentals during the last two days and about the end of the week with be thrown together to form a team to oppose the varsity in scrimmage. Scrimmage, for the big team will start either Friday night or Saturday morning.

None of the youngsters on the frosh practice field have had any belly-hoop preceding their entry into school and from an educational standpoint it's a good thing. Athletic aspirants are much easier to handle when they haven't a big athletic reputation and are apt to study a bit more, too.

As is customary, Lawrence has had her share of high powered football men this fall who came here as potential members of the freshman class but who either wanted the world or at least three fourths of it for scampering down the grass. Possibly several might have made good football men and good students but jobs appear scarce whether in fact or mind and as a result the boys have taken their cleated shoes and head guards elsewhere.

Looking over the list of men out for practice the first couple days Carl Kunitz, Appleton, gets first tumble for he has played here before and is almost a proven quantity. One year out of school with a little extra weight has made him capable of most any place on a team.

Two other men who are reported to have possibilities are Albert Froehlich and Gus Hausman, Wauwatosa. The former played under Coach Joseph Shields of Appleton high when he was mentor at Wauwatosa and looks as though he might know something about the grid game.

Another likely looking prospect is Roy Babcock of Neenah, a husky chap with a shock of black hair hanging over his face and a jaw that makes one believe of Funk McGlynn was coming back to school.

Another week of practice with a half dozen bumps and bruises from scrimmage probably will thin out the yearling squad and show material that can be made into something. Members of the fresh squad are Donald McMahon, Carl Kunitz, Thomas Ryan, Clement Steider, John Goeres, Duane Fish and Arnold Sieg all of Appleton.

Robert Amundson, Rice Lake, Walter Gilburg, Wausau, Sheldon Dodge, Wausau, Fred Jensen, Green Bay, Granville Calhoun, Fond du Lac, Robert Kemper, Manitowoc, Lawrence Rusch, Reedsburg, Albert Franzen, Plymouth, Albert Froehlich, Wauwatosa, Gus Hausman, Wauwatosa, Lewellyn Lawson, Luck, Evan McDonald, Oshkosh, Mac Arthur McKelhan, Manitowoc, Fred Lund, Kaukauna, Robert Mulford, Rockford, Ill., Charles Culmer, Duluth, Minn.

BADGERS WORKED HARD WEDNESDAY

Bumps and Bruises Are Result of First Day's Play Practice

Madison (AP)—Wisconsin football practices are getting rough. Although Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite has sent his team through a scrimmage and probably will not before Friday at the earliest the players received rough work-out Wednesday and the bruises and bumps are appearing.

Sam Behr, Rockford (Ill.) sophomore appeared at practice Wednesday with his arm in a sling. "Bill" Fallon, the trainer, reported the injury to be a bruised shoulder and said Behr would be ready for work Thursday.

Wicand, LaCrosse back, suffered a badly cut lip, while Herman McKaskle, Coy (Ark.) veteran guard, had a finger in a splint.

Wednesday's practices were the toughest of the year thus far while the morning workout consisted of passing, a chalk talk and a team drill, the afternoon had line play emphasized with practice at opening holes against opponents. Teams later lined up and a long passing drill with everything but the tackling of scrimmage being "fair."

WALTON LEAGUE HOLDS MEETING ON THURSDAY

The first fall meeting of Appleton Chapter No. 1, Isaac Walton league of America, will be held at 8 o'clock Thursday evening at Actual Business college, according to J. H. S. Sulz, secretary. The fall and winter program will be discussed, to which state wide activities of the league on which the opinion of the local chapter is wanted.

You Wouldn't Kid Us, AI?

"I guess this ought to bring some luck." So said Al Simmons as he displayed an immense horseshoe to his teammates before they started the final game of the series with the Yankees. And the A's won! Al now packs this horseshoe with him to the park every day and thinks that this western trip the Athletics are now on will terminate with the league standing showing them on top—and pennant winners.

Around The Sport World

NO BIG WORDS NEEDED
If all the good fancy words hadn't been used up years ago an elegant piece might be composed now about Bob Jones, the golfer.

When he knocked off the British amateur champion, ten and nine, in the recent American championship tournament, he tied Jerry Traver's record by winning the amateur title four times and there's no telling how many more times he will win it. He's only 26 and he may never get as fat as the 230-pound Ducky Yates.

Jones has won four out of the last five American amateur championships. He has won the British open once and the American open twice. He was second in the American open in 1924 and in 1925 and 1927 the best pro in the tournament had to take an extra play-off round to beat him.

No fancy words are needed to pay tribute to his class, when the figures show that he won 25 out of his last 25 starts.

THE BEST—IF TERRIBLE!
Walter Hagen says that Mr. Perkins, the British amateur champ, who was the victim of the recent Jones devastation at Brae Burn, is the best British amateur he has seen. He says he is a better golfer than Roger Wethered or Cyril Tolley. He is a 26-year-old clerk from Birmingham. He never took a golf lesson

FRANKFORD JACKETS LEAVE FOR GREEN BAY

National Pro Grid Season Will Be Opened With Sunday's Game

Philadelphia, Pa. — The greatest football team that the Frankford Athletic association has ever assembled will leave Friday morning for Green Bay where on Sunday they will open the National league season against the Packers.

The Yellowjackets have put in a good week of practice at Atlantic City and the club officials feel confident that they will bring home the bacon in the first inter-sectional contest of the year.

The Hornets' party is composed of two dozen players a trainer, two club officers and three newspapermen. The team will travel in a special car routed direct to the Badger city.

Coach Joe Wolf, former Nebraska star, has a wealth of material to pick from. Bub Weiler was recently purchased from the Chicago Cardinals and will play the opposite tackle to Weir.

Tiny Maxwell of Notre Dame, is passing the ball at center again while Hal Hanson, all-western guard from Minnesota, is holding down one of the center flanking jobs. Pete Flak, Penn State star, is another one of the Jackets' star forwards. Chuck Kessell is a fixture at one of the ends while "Two Bits" Homan will again call signals at quarterback. He will have a great set of carriers to work with. "Bull" Bohman is a line plunger while Dehl

GIANTS AND CARDS IN 3 GAME SERIES

New York Team Must Win All Three Games to Reach Top of League

New York (AP)—The Giants prepared to defend their home citadel against a double onslaught from the Cardinals Thursday though the weather-wise thought rain would halt all action. Moisture might blur the glory of the greatest National league pageant in this city since the Giants and the Pirates had it out for the 1925 pennant, late in August of that year, but rain Thursday would not be altogether unwelcome to John Joseph McGraw.

A postponement Thursday would mean merely that the two games would be played tomorrow, an otherwise open date, and this would enable the Little Napoleon to pit Carl Hubbell, Larry Benton and Fred Fitzsimmons against Wee Willie Sherdel, Alvin Dark and Clarence Mitchell.

It is known, however, that the Giant chieftain was considering the plan of working Hubbell out of turn with the sorrel top. The lead of the Cardinals remained at two games this morning, and nothing but a clean sweep of three would land the New York team on top in the current engagement.

Two out of three for the home forces, victors eleven times in eighteen games against the Cardinals this season, would leave the Giants in a fighting position, one game from the top, and might defer final decision of the National race until the last day of the season when the Cardinals are scheduled to return to the Polo Grounds for a single game—on Sept. 30.

THEY DON'T WALK THOUGH
Notre Dame has established such a reputation for its traveling football circus that Knute Rockne has been kidded with the charge that his men have to practice on flat cars.

Rockne's boys do travel a lot, but some of the less advertised teams do considerable rambling around the country.

Figures show, for instance, that C'geon State will cover 10,442 miles on five trips this fall. Stanford will go over 10,228 miles on four trips and Washington State will take seven trips of 8,036 miles of ground.

DISTANCE NOT SO WIDE
There are a lot of false impressions about the time taken from the class rooms for football trips.

It doesn't take Notre Dame any longer to go to New York for the Army game than it takes for Princeton to go to Boston. And it will not be any more of a burden for Princeton to go to Columbus to play Ohio State than it required for a trip to Cambridge when Princeton and Harvard were speaking.

HANDY ALIBIS

It is easy to lose sight of the fact that a great many of the far-western teams have to travel a great many miles to play each other and that the teams from the northwest have as many climate handicaps when they play in southern California as the eastern teams do.

ELK ALLEYS WILL OPEN TO PUBLIC SATURDAY

The Elk club bowling alleys will be opened to the public Saturday, according to announcement made Thursday morning by Sarto Balliet, club secretary. A prize will be awarded to the man rolling the highest score Saturday and on Sunday the woman rolling up the largest total will be awarded a prize. The league season officially starts Monday night when the Knights of Columbus: keglers take the runways.

High School Picked As Possible Winner In Valley Conference

Fondy and Manitowoc Are Weak While Marinette May Be Dark Horse

Sheboygan (AP)—Four of the eight high school football teams of the Fox River Valley conference—Manitowoc, West Green Bay, Sheboygan and Fond du Lac—will swing into action in conference tilts Sept. 29. Oshkosh, Marinette, Appleton and East Green Bay will confine their gridiron activity on that date to non-conference opponents, and will first meet conference opponents one week later.

Confronted with the problem of replacing most of the outstanding stars of last season, the eight coaches are engaged in driving large squads through strenuous practice sessions in the hope of uncovering the Herbers, Johnstons and Aspators of 1928.

West Green Bay's undefeated champions of last year were wrecked. The purple has lost its field general and triple threat performer, Arnie Herber and hope of a repetition of last season's success is slight. East Green Bay has fared somewhat better, retaining several veteran linemen, headed by Arnold Roeser and two experienced backs but losing the services of Emmet Kraus, three sport athlete.

Oshkosh looms as the most potential among the conference eleven. The Blue and White have Amy Tady, an open field runner and Moistner in the backfield. Coach Schneider's line will be strong, but there is need for a quarterback who can direct the offensive of his team.

Appleton, despite the loss of "Swede" Johnston, the driving fullback, has championship possibilities should the team escape an injury jinx that robbed Coach Shield of his best men during the 1927 campaign. Popp, fullback, will captain the Orange and Black.

Fond du Lac and Manitowoc entertain few title aspirations. Coach Baker of the Fondy Cardinals has green material and can hardly be expected to develop and other fullback of Aspator's ability.

Coach Mark Sutton, serving his first year as director of the football destinies of Manitowoc, has a small squad headed by Captain Gorychka and Chief Rupic of the line and Vierger of the backfield. Ineligibility of Gill, a promising center, has hurt the team's chances.

Marinette, under Coach Sutherland, again offers to be the dark horse of the conference. The Northwesterns, minus such stars as Dionne, a brilliant back and Lund, veteran tackle, will have a light team, according to present indications, but the surprise team of last season may be duplicated under the expert coaching of Sutherland.

Jake Stoll, former Lawrence college star, will have the heaviest eleven representing Sheboygan in years. Johnson, a fine tackle, is tight and the Chair City eleven will

As a result of a survey, it has been ascertained that 94% of the principal executives of the Pullman Company smoke cigars. Their position and work requires the clear mind and the steady nerves that are so important to good health.

A cigar is smoked for taste—not to gratify a mere nervous habit. So it is smoked slowly—one is not lighted from the butt of another, nervously or hurriedly.

And a cigar does not affect the throat, since to quote a prominent New York throat specialist: "The basic cause of much throat trouble is the irritating burning action of hot smoke upon the tender tissues of the throat."

"Cigar smoke is cool because the tobacco burns slowly, and the smoke is filtered and cooled as it is drawn through the body of the cigar."

Make this test for a week—smoke cigars exclusively. You'll find yourself feeling better, without cough or throat irritation, with steadier nerves, increased vitality and less of that tired feeling.

Make the test with La Palinas. They combine for the first time in one cigar an extreme mildness with a rare richness of taste and fragrance.

SOUTHERN SPEED DEMON TO TRY MAJOR LEAGUES

Birmingham, Ala. (AP)—Catchers and second basemen of the American league probably will go into a huddle over the advent of John Franklin (Stuffy) Stewart, man of many stolen bases.

For they know the star second baseman of the Birmingham Southern association club of old, his base stealing prowess having been displayed as a Washington player last year.

Stewart, who served as understudy to Bucky Harris in 1927, has been sold outright to the Senators after pilfering more than sixty bases here this season.

He has been hitting over .300 and leading sensationally all this season. Stewart has led the Southern Association five times in stolen bases.

been a pennant race in the National League and it would take high explosives to get them out of first position against any outfield. It is possible that Roettger, recovered from a broken leg, may get into the series but he will not be the boy he was when he didn't have a bad pin to worry about. There is nothing particularly wrong with Harper and Orsatti can play game ball, but they can't rate with Roettger.

Simmons and Bing Miller certainly have given Connie Mack no reason to lose sleep during the torrid pennant race and Mule Haas became one of the finds of the year when the old Philadelphia gentleman had to dip up a replacement for Ty Cobb. Simmons, Miller and Haas are a fine combining substitute. Cobb or Speaker might come in very handy as pinch-hitters also.

Ranking the Athletic outfield over that of the Pirates may cause some dispute because the Waner brothers certainly cannot be overlooked. But that is the difficulty. The Waners are the Pirate outfield. The man to find the third man and in the late days of the season had to send to the minor leagues and bring Comorosky back.

The Chicago outfield is like the Chicago infield. No outstanding brilliancy. "A" although late in the season the combination began to find itself. Cuyler took half the season to get going but Bob Nelson and Stephenson carried the hot nobly all season. The Cubs have good workmen holding down the outer defenses and in the series they might show up some of the more press-agented combination. It is quite certain that they can hit.

For a good part of the season, especially after Eddie Roush cut a sore mach, even John McGraw could not have named the regular outfield of the Giants. And that's just the kind of an owners it is.

Doubt it. Hafez had better get along with them through the season there might not have

SING THE BLUES AT NOTRE DAME

Rockne Must Mould Team From Two Veterans and Green Material

Chicago—(AP)—What the 1928 edition of the university of Notre Dame team will do on the gridiron is something that is not only interesting the football populace but is something that Coach Knute Rockne is seriously considering. For this fall the Notre Dame "master mind" is faced with the problem of constructing from two veterans and a host of green material a forward wall that will fit in with his hair trigger offense.

Rockne will get the first glimpse of his work Saturday when he sends the varsity against the freshman in their annual tussle. The public however, will have to wait until Sept. 28 when Loyola of New Orleans invades South Bend as Saturday's scrimmage will be behind closed gates.

More speed, is the cry of Rockne and his assistants as they attempt to whip the six new comers in the line into the system that has carried the Rockne trained teams far in the past. The Notre Dame mentor has set about the task of finding three sets of ends. Five wingmen received monograms last year and of the five, four were graduated, leaving only John Colerick.

The first scrimmage was held Thursday and the action of the regular squad against the reserve eleven was none to pleasing to Rockne.

Bowlers on the waiting lists will be given an opportunity to become members of teams as soon as others signify their intention of withdrawing. The league rules are a man will be dropped from a team if he is absent from three consecutive series.

Frank "Red" Gill, left, and Harry "Blackie" Gill, center, are members of the varsity eleven, playing halfback and guard positions, respectively. The third Gill is Ralston, nicknamed "Rusty," and he is expected to prove a star for the yearling squad. The Gills enrolled from Santa Maria, Calif., where they starred in high school sports.

HOLD OPEN LARCENY CHARGE AGAINST GIRL

Judge Berg Paroles Antigio Woman to Mother Following Arrest in City

A charge of larceny against Miss Adeline Noack, 21, Antigio, is being held open for 45 days on order of Judge Theodore Berg before whom she was arraigned in municipal court Wednesday afternoon. She was paroled to her mother.

The girl was arrested Tuesday by Officer Gus Hersekorn on College-ave. She was placed in a hospital for examination and brought into court Wednesday.

According to the girl's story, she had been visiting her grandmother at Halsted and stopped in Appleton last Tuesday on her way home, to visit a friend, Mrs. Rose Van Weddington, 1222 W. Eighth-st. Shortly after the girl left, Mrs. Van Weddington reported to police that $15 was missing from her pocketbook.

A description of the girl was furnished to police officers and Officer Hersekorn recognized her as she was walking along W. College-ave between Superior and Appleton-sts. He started after her, and she darted up the stairs leading to the district attorney's office, but he caught her and started leading her to the police station.

When they reached the northeast corner of Appleton-st and College-ave the girl started running east on College-ave and the officer chased her to the corner of College-ave and Oneida-st where he caught her again. She tried to tear away again but he held her arm and took her to the station, where, police say, she admitted stealing $10.

When the girl was taken into court she declared she was but 17 years old and Judge Berg transferred the case to juvenile court. In that court, however, her father testified that she was 21 years old and she admitted that was her age. The case was then returned to municipal court.

LINDBERGH TO DIRECT DIVISION IN DRIVE OF SALVATION ARMY

Annual Campaign, With $4,000 Goal, Will Open Next Wednesday

Selection of Eric D. Lindberg as chairman of the industrial division in the Salvation Army campaign for $4,000, which will be held here next week from Wednesday to Saturday, inclusive, was announced Thursday. Mr. Lindberg has handled this division in previous campaigns. Seymour Gmeiner was appointed vice chairman.

The work of the Salvation Army is divided into two divisions, Evangelistic and social relief. Social experts agree that a strong vitalizing influence like Christianity is needed to afford a main spring of action in reestablishing those who have fallen. The Salvation Army had 45 converts to Christianity in Appleton during the past year and reached 22,000 people in 127 meetings conducted in the open air. This phase of the work has aptly been called the "Conscience of the street corner."

Prominent jurists agree that two-thirds of the crimes committed in the United States are committed by young people who have not reached 21 years of age. The Salvation Army is combating this evil tendency by laying a special emphasis in its work with the young people. They do this by carrying on character-building activities and by enrolling boys and girls who have never attended any church in Sunday school classes.

A total attendance of 2,000 in this division of the work was reported last year.

"The appeal in Appleton will be along board lines," said William H. Salatic, general chairman of the campaign. "Inasmuch as the Salvation Army renders service to those who need it, irrespective of race, color, or creed, it becomes an obligation upon everyone to help finance the program. The history of this and other countries is conclusive proof that unless work of this character is financed and carried forward that the tax-paying citizens eventually pay dearly in both man-power and money for having neglected this phase of civic duty."

START GRADING GAP ON HIGHWAY NEAR WAUPACA

Grading on the three mile gap in the concrete on highway 10 in Waupaca, starting at Churchill-st. began Wednesday south of Waupaca. The county will build a bridge over a mile pond diagonally from the property of Elizabeth Evans on Churchill-st. to connect with the present highway. An agreement was signed between the county and the Fuller Co. better known as the Acme Brass and Metal works. The highway commission purchased the property from Mrs. Evans for $1,500 and the Fuller company has been paid $500 for the right of building the bridge across the pond. A detour will take traffic into Waupaca over state trunk Highway 146 from Weyauwega to a point where it joins highway 54, and then into the city.

APPOINT APPLETON TO WEST POINT ACADEMY

Eugene L. Liese, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Liese, 518 S. Walnut-st., Thursday was appointed by Congressman George J. Schneider to fill a vacancy in the ninth congressional district quota to West Point Military academy.

Liese will succeed Phillip W. Merrill, Green Bay, another Schneider appointee who graduates in June, 1929. The Appleton boy will enter West Point on July 1, 1929.

Congressman Schneider said Thursday that he had decided on Liese after several weeks of careful investigation of a host of applications for the appointment. He named Jack Rudolph, Green Bay, as first alternate, and James A. Houser, Jr., Oconto, as second alternates. In the event Liese does not enter West Point Rudolph will have the first chance at the appointment and Houser the second.

Liese, who now attends St. Norbert college at De Pere, is a graduate of Appleton high school with the class of 1928. While in high school he played football. The past two years he has attended training camp at Camp Holaday, Fort Sheridan, Ill. Officers under whose supervision he attended the camp highly recommended his appointment.

Scores of motorists fresh from examining and riding in the latest and best cars of the day declare Hudson the supreme performer of their experience.

You will find this Hudson smooth, fast, reliable, brilliant. Its fuel economy is unequalled in cars of its weight and power. Fifteen to eighteen miles per gallon is the average of many thousand tests.

From standing start Hudson takes the full charge of power, mounting smoothly to high speed with a greater rapidity than you have looked for in any car.

It sustains even maximum road speeds with effortless ease; it takes hills as if they were not there.

But for the story of what Hudson will do that you would not ask other cars to do—will you please take the wheel for any test you desire?

When completed the river will be seven feet deep and 250 feet wide at that point for a distance of 1,000 feet, according to Mr. Everett. The work will continue for the remainder of the season.

WINS APPEAL IN CIRCUIT COURT

Joseph Freund, Grand Chute, Acquitted of Drunken Driving Charge

A jury in circuit court Wednesday afternoon, after approximately four hours of deliberation, found Joseph Freund, town of Grand Chute not guilty of drunken driving. Freund had previously been found guilty of the charge by a jury in municipal court, and had appealed to the higher court.

Freund was arrested several months ago by Officer Albert Deltgen of the Appleton police, testified he had received a call saying a drunken driver was coming toward Appleton from Mackville. The officer said he followed the car from Mackville to Appleton, testified that it zig-zagged from one side of the road to the other, and finally made the arrest after Freund entered the city limits and was driving on Wisconsin-ave.

The defendant declared he had seen the car following him and had pulled far to the side of the road several times to allow it to pass. He denied he was drunk and said that officer probably mistook zig-zagging for his efforts to allow the car to pass.

The case opened before Judge Edgar V. Werner Wednesday morning. It went to the jury at 2:13 in the afternoon and a verdict was returned at 6:35.

Our Presidents

The country along the Gulf of Mexico beyond the United States' possessions was called Texas by the Spanish and Mexicans. Americans began to move in about 1819. Soon large numbers had arrived. Both Adams and Jackson tried to buy the territory but Mexico refused to sell. The Texans began to talk about independence and in 1835 fighting began.

By NEA, Through Special Permission of the Publishers of The Book of Knowledge, Copyright, 1923-26.

The Texans showed themselves superior fighting men. They organized the Republic of Texas and asked to be admitted to the Union.

Many northerners opposed Texas' admission because it would give so much more slave territory. The dispute was not settled at once.

During Jackson's administration the first railroads were built in the United States. Anthracite coal was used in an engine, a reaping machine was invented and other important machines designed. Opponents of Jackson, calling themselves Whigs, banded into a political party. From the Whigs the present Republican party drew much of its early strength.

EDUCATION MAKES NATIONS LEADERS, SAYS SCHOOL HEAD

W. T. Sullivan Discusses Economic Value of Part Time School Movement

Kaukauna—It is the quality, skill and desire built into people by education which makes a nation rich or poor," said William T. Sullivan in his speech on the Economic Value of the Part Time School Movement in Wisconsin, before the Kaukauna Rotary club Wednesday noon at Legion hall. Mr. Sullivan spoke in place of R. M. Radsch.

He said that it received economic value through association with one another, and that the ideas given traveled around the world through this way. Mr. Sullivan, principal of Kaukauna Vocational school, showed the way in which the part time student in such a school was fitted for every day life.

"Races and nations that make an effort to educate the masses are the ones which show the most progress," he said. "We must develop the sort of people who will desire intelligence, who can serve well enough to earn well enough to buy the things our productive forces are making available. Mass production means the consumption must be by the masses. The business of the country cannot develop beyond the supply of the desires and needs which enter into the standard of living of the people making up our population."

Mr. Sullivan pointed out that the vocational school is concerned with the problems presented by girls. With a boy wanting to follow a certain trade, five years of special training towards that line is given to him in the school.

He stated that members of the Rotary had affiliated themselves for life in a one hour a week University and service club. He said that the "service club" idea is being carried out in forty-two centers in Wisconsin with the young working people as they may get the benefits of educational contact in the part time schools.

James F. Cavanaugh, city superintendent of schools, also made a short talk on the Constitution in commemoration of Constitution week.

Doctor Found Women and Children Sick More Often Than Men

As a family doctor at Monticello, Illinois, the whole human body, not any small part of it, was Dr. Caldwell's practice. More than half his "calls" were on women, children and babies. They are the ones most often sick. But their illnesses were usually of a minor nature—colds, fevers, headaches, biliousness—and all of them required first a thorough evacuation. They were constipated.

In the course of Dr. Caldwell's 47 years' practice, he found a good deal of success in such cases with a prescription of his own containing simple laxative herbs with psyllin. In 1892 he decided to use this formula in the manufacture of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and placed it on the market.

The preparation immediately had as great a public success as it previously had in Dr. Caldwell's private practice. Now, the third generation is using it. Mothers are giving it to their children who were given it by their mothers. Every second of the working day someone somewhere is going into a drug store to buy it. There are thousands of homes in this country that are never without a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and we have many hundreds of letters from grateful people telling us it helped when everything else failed.

While women, children and elderly people are especially benefited by Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, its mild, gentle action is promptly effective on the most robust constitution and in the most obstinate cases. Containing neither opiates nor narcotics, it is safe for the tiniest baby. Children like it and take it willingly. Every drug store sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, or this coupon brings a bottle for free trial:

Dr. J. C. Caldwell M.D. AT AGE 83

The jury found that Steinberg had made an agreement with Whedon as alleged in the complaint.

Testimony in a suit brought in the upper branch of municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg by S. A. Whedon, Hollywood, Cal., owner of the Whedon building, corner of Oneida-st and College-ave, against D. P. Steinberg, local realty dealer, was completed Thursday morning and attorneys were making arguments. The case was expected to go to the jury Thursday afternoon.

Whedon claims Steinberg was acting as his agent in 1925 when a deal was started with B. A. Nickoll, Milwaukee, for a 99-year lease on the Whedon building. Nickoll paid $2,500 to Steinberg but the deal was never completed and later, after $200 legal fees were deducted from the $2,500, Whedon and Steinberg split the balance.

In Whedon's complaint he alleges at the time of the division of the money an agreement was made whereby Steinberg was to pay half of any judgment against Whedon should Nickoll obtain such a judgment. Last March a jury in Milwaukee awarded Nickoll $3,596.26. Whedon agrees to return $1,150 which was the amount he received. He denies he agreed to pay half the entire cost of any judgment and refuses to do so.

Steinberg's counter claim for approximately $2,000 was dismissed by Judge Berg on motion of Whedon's attorneys. Steinberg claimed he had a commission coming for leases which were in effect after his term as agent expired.

The judge dismissed the counterclaim, however, on the ground that there was an oral agreement between Whedon and Steinberg on the matter of fees and this agreement could not remain in effect for more than a year without violating the statute on fraud. The agreement was made in 1924 when Steinberg started acting as Whedon's agent.

COURT CONDEMNS LAND FOR STREET

Aldermen Refuse Offer of $350 for Parts of Lots for New Road

Deliberating only 15 minutes, a jury in municipal court, Wednesday afternoon condemned parts of several lots belonging to the late James McIlhenny, W. Elsie-st and wanted by the city to complete opening of W. Oklahoma-st from N. Mason-st to N. Story-st.

Wednesday evening the city council refused to pay $350 for the property as suggested by an agent of the McIlhennys and went on record as favoring appointment of an appraisal board. The original price asked for the lots was $1,000. Later it was changed to free installation of improvements in the street about the McIlhenny property. All other property owners have given the city the city necessary for opening the street without cost, city officials reported.

IZAK WALTON LEAGUE WILL MEET TONIGHT

Richard Sykes, president, of the local chapter of the Izak Walton League, will give a short talk on Conservation at a meeting of league members at 8 o'clock Thursday evening in the Actual Business College rooms. Anyone interested in conservation is invited to attend. A round table discussion of other fish and game issues will follow the talk. Several members of the local chapter, accompanied by Louis Jeske, game warden, went to Shawano early Thursday morning to plant trout fingerlings. The fish secured at a southern hatchery were planted in the Rat River. They arrived at a rural station near Shawano Wednesday night.

GREEN BAY MAN FINED FOR TRAFFIC OFFENSE

Payson K. Williams, Green Bay, was fined $10 and costs by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Wednesday when he pleaded guilty of driving an automobile with the cutoff open. He was arrested last Sunday night in the town of Oneida by P. J. Blanshan, county motorcycle officer.

Clafin Says World War Made Many New Hunters

BY B. A. CLAFIN Duck shooting of the present day is far different from that of years ago. Then, the birds were plentiful, the hunters few, and there was no real necessity for legal supervision and protection for the game. This condition prevailed for many years previous to about 1915. From that time on a great trend of the people to outdoor sports of all kinds took place. It grew steadily in force and right now it appears to be the leading hobby of the American people. Why it was so, it is difficult to explain, but nevertheless it is a fact that the war world has added a great increase to hunting of all kinds.

In spite of the added cost of arms and ammunition, thousands of would-be hunters invade the hunting areas and waste their money in attempting to bag game by shooting at it at ranges far beyond the possibilities of present day guns and loads. On the opening of the duck season last Sunday, the marshes swarmed with hundreds of ducks in heavy and light coats and in various other articles of wearing apparel which the sharp-eyed wild fowls easily noticed and steered their ways high in the air and well out of range of the stream of fire directed toward them.

It was laughable to watch the frantic actions of the "hunters," I believe, all told, it would be an exaggeration to say that over one duck was bagged by every ten hunters. At that, a goodly number were killed, most of them accidentally, when we taken into account the vast army of nimrods on the marshes. To the hunters, the usual game sought by this class of hunters were very scarce, and they will be scarce from now on because they have been far less able to take care of themselves than the ducks. They fly in a slow and lumbering manner and are easily shot by the tyros. They are potted on the water in the holes where they feed, and there are no means to be no limit of bag when a flight comes down from the north. In years gone by they came in thousands in a one night flight. Now dozens would better describe their numbers.

The nimrods have slaughtered and took them home by the hundreds. They are even served as "free lunches" in some places, and where they are nearly exterminated. What few remain will have long gone the way of the wild pigeon long before the wild ducks perish from the earth.

For some time there has been a closed season on our most beautiful wild duck, the wood duck, and these birds are on the increase. However, if they continue to be shot at as they were last Sunday, it won't take long to wipe them out too. They were shot indiscriminately on the opening day, and I cannot say that it was entirely because of the fact that the nimrods did not recognize the species. They simply ignored all law and simply shot them, knowing that they would not be questioned or checked up.

$5,000,000 DAMAGE IN MEXICAN STORM

lake when the dikes broke, adjutant General Collins reported to Governor Martin.

Compilation of lists of the dead was hampered by the difficulties under which the recovery squads worked. Many bodies, in the water since they were overwhelmed by the lake flood were in such a state that it was necessary to bury them immediately. In some instances, searchers lacking means of conveyance, tied the bodies to trees and left them for the trucks.

BRING FOOD TO ISLE

San Juan, Porto Rico (AP)—Food supplies were moving into the hurricane-stricken districts outside of San Juan Thursday under Red Cross supervision. Tents and blankets were being distributed by the army for emergency hospitals and for the shelter of those weakened by privation.

With actual relief either provided for or plans well under way, attention was centered on putting Porto Rico to work to keep itself clean and restore morale through self help. As the problem of reemployment is largely agricultural, E. B. Thomas, manager of the branch of the Federal Land bank of Baltimore, told farm groups he had assurance the bank would stand by and help them carry on. With this assurance, farmers took hope to thousands of families that employment and wages were in sight.

In an effort to check profiteering the San Juan Chamber of Commerce threatened to cut off both merchandise and credit. Where help was needed, however, the organization pledged its members lenient credit and delay on collections.

BANKS ADVANCE FUNDS

Funds of $50,000 were advanced by banks to the citizens' relief committee headed by Justice Del Toro. They were placed in the hands of agencies for distribution in every city and town.

A local political quarrel has prevented the removal of garbage and debris from the streets of San Juan since the hurricane. The municipal assembly, which has been attempting to impeach Mayor Todd, refused to appropriate funds requested by him for use in the emergency. The mayor then appealed to the merchants to supply him with trucks without charge so that the debris might be removed.

Reports of casualties were still filtering in Thursday. Senator Jordan announced that there were 45 deaths at Utuado up to last Saturday night when instructions were given to bury the bodies where they were found after identification, if possible. A courier brought the first word from San Sebastian, in a high mountain valley in the northwest of the country, advising the Red Cross that 46 bodies had been found there Sunday when he left.

STORM ABATING

New York (AP)—The fringe of the tropical hurricane which swept through the West Indies and Florida lashed the north Atlantic coast Thursday with diminishing violence. From Hatteras to Boston high seas pounded the shore line and the wind which reached "whole gale" force blew down trees, telephone and telegraph poles and disrupted electric light and power systems for several miles inland.

Four deaths were attributed to the storm in New Jersey. They were due to falling trees or traffic accidents.

High tides invaded New York harbor, causing readjustments of the landing bridges at the ferry slips. The tide was three feet above normal in the harbor.

BURY 60 IN GRAVE

St. Petersburg, Fla. (AP)—The St. Petersburg Times Thursday published a dispatch from a staff correspondent at West Palm Beach which said 60 bodies were buried there Wednesday in one high grave, dug by a steam shovel. He said bodies were brought in so rapidly from the lake region that a crew of carpenters were kept busy building rough coffins.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Haase and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hunt of New-nah auto to Milwaukee on Wednesday.

Mrs. Fae Wachob and Miss Mildred Eberhart are spending the week at Milwaukee.

GREEN BAY YOUTHS, ARRESTED IN CITY, ADMIT ROBBERIES

Questioned by Police, Boys Confess to Car Stealing, Holdups

Two Green Bay boys, arrested here at 145 Thursday morning by Officer Edward Ratzman, who became suspicious when he saw them loitering near a parked car, have admitted a series of robberies and thefts in Green Bay and vicinity during the past ten days and were charged over to Martin Burke, chief of detective bureau at Green Bay. They were taken to Green Bay where they will face charges.

Officer Ratzman, walking his beat, saw the boys near a car, bearing a Minnesota license, that was parked on W. Franklin-st between Appleton and Oneida-st. He took them to the police station where a search revealed that both carried flashlights and the older boy had a 38-caliber revolver. The older boy also carried a gold watch and chain which were identified as having been stolen from one of their victims.

The youths are Harry Brunett, 18, 907 W. Jackson-st, and Jerry Van-denbergh, 22, 1102 River-st. Police Chief George T. Prim reported that the youngest of the two boys is on parole from the State Industrial School for Boys at Waukesha.

According to the story received from Green Bay police and which has been admitted by the boys, they started on their career of crime about 8:30 on the night of Sept. 11, when they stole a Willys-Knight sedan owned by F. Heithier, 12 Madison-apt., Green Bay.

They drove to Luxemburg where they stopped a car driven by Joe Rank, of the place, and took the car and left in cash and from a companion, whose name police here did not know, they took $3 in cash and a gold watch. This watch was taken from Vandenberg when the boys were arrested here. After robbing Rank and his companion they abandoned the car they had taken in Green Bay and took Rank's machine.

A short time later they stopped Carl Marcell, Luxemburg, took $1.25 in cash from him and the keys to his car and left him stranded on the road so that he could not chase them.

Then followed a week of inactivity until the night of Sept. 17, when they held up George Vandefell and William May on Willow-st near Jackson-st in Green Bay. From May they took $9 and from Willow they took some small change.

While no extensive drive will be made by Outagamie-co chapter of American Red Cross, to raise funds for relief work in the hurricane stricken districts of the West Indies and Florida, workers hope to collect $500, according to M. H. Small, chairman.

Checks should be made payable to the Outagamie-co chapter, American Red Cross, and should be sent to P. M. Conkey, Appleton, treasurer of the county group.

Thursday Mr. Small received a telegram from William M. Baxter, Jr., director of the St. Louis branch of the Red Cross, in which he urged the county to take immediate steps to raise funds for relief work. Following is Mr. Baxter's telegram: "Latest reports from West Indies and Florida, which were stricken by a hurricane, confirm the demand for extraordinary relief measures. President Coolidge's proclamation calls for generous contributions to meet the needs for all areas affected. It is clearly evident the Red Cross faces serious responsibility with relief needs exceeding the Florida hurricane of 1926. I suggest $500 as the goal for your chapter."

CHARGE 2 MEN PACKED UNMERCHANTABLE EGGS

Two warrants were issued Wednesday afternoon by John A. Lonsdorf, district attorney on complaint of A. A. Brown, representative of the state marketing department, who alleges two Outagamie-co men packed eggs without first candling them to pick out those that were unmerchantable. The warrants name Hugo J. Schuldes, Stephentown, and Frank R. Gruenwald, Shiocott. The warrants were turned over to Sheriff Otto Zuehlke Thursday morning to be served.

MORE SHOWERS COMING, WEATHERMAN PROMISES

Showers are still on the way and Appleton residents had better have slickers, umbrellas, and rubbers handy. The weatherman's predictions for Wednesday night and Thursday foretold of the whole lot as this vicinity was concerned, but heavy showers were reported in regions near here.

The weather is going to be mostly unsettled for the next 24 hours, he says. Showers with a rain in the morning are due Thursday night, and the mercury will drop Friday.

Showers and cooler weather are predicted throughout the midwest and in the upper and lower lake regions. Winds are shifting from the southeast and southwest, promising fair weather for the weekend. Some fair weather is predicted in the western states.

The mercury dropped to 29 degrees above zero at 6 o'clock Thursday morning and rose to 32 degrees above zero at 12 o'clock noon. The mercury stood at 45 degrees above zero at 12 o'clock for the past three days.

Markets STOCK PRICES MOVE IRREGULARLY HIGHER

Low Sterling Exchange Rate Revives Hope of Relief from Stringency

New York—Stock prices moved irregularly higher at the opening of Thursday's market. The first sale of national news and light was a block of 15,000 shares at 25 1/2, up fractionally and a new high record points, Wright, Aeronautical, and American Zinc and Chemicals. Motors, Freepot Texas and Briggs a point or more. Texas Wiles dropped 1/2.

Establishment of a new low for the year by sterling exchange with the pound at 48 1/2, revived hopes of further gold imports and a relief of the current credit stringency.

Concurrent strength and activity of Electric Power and Light and National Power and Light was associated with rumors of an early merger of these two properties. A. M. Byers which quickly advanced 3 points, was bought on the prospect of an early resumption of dividends. Talk of higher copper prices stimulated the copper shares.

Howe Sound moving up more than 2 points to a new peak at 64 1/2. Atlantic Refining, Gillette Safety Razor and Waukegan also moved into new high ground.

Speculative interest in the motors was revived by the fact that General Motors, which ran up more than 3 points to 21, or within a hair of its record, was selling. Foreign exchanges opened steady. Total sales approximated $200,000,000.

BOOTLEGGER DOES BIT IN EDUCATING STATE CHILDREN

Fines, Etc., Increase School
Funds, Prohibition Agent
Points Out

Madison—(P)—The bootlegger is doing his bit toward educating Wisconsin children, and the state prohibition department is doing everything in its power to help in so doing, Roland Dixon, state dry commissioner, said in a statement last week.

The statement conveyed to the people of the state a better understanding of prohibition work and financing in Wisconsin.

The total expenditures of the department from its birth to June 30, 1928, has been $450,833.91. Total receipts from permit fees, sale of confiscated property, etc., has been $446,832 while the total fines collected and deposited in the state treasury to the credit of the school funds have been $2,512,604.55 which makes total receipts of the state, account of prohibition, $2,959,516.87. This, with the above expenditures deducted makes a neat profit to the state of $2,508,682.96, which, Mr. Dixon holds, is "not so bad."

The commissioner pointed out the different units of prohibition enforcement in the state: his department, in charge of enforcing state liquor laws, the Federal Prohibition Enforcement Agency, operating in twenty-seven of the eastern counties of the state under Frank Cunningham, federal director, with offices in the Milwaukee federal building and the Western Federal Prohibition District under Ray Nye, covering forty-four counties in the western half of the state, with offices in Madison.

These are distinct bodies, he said, and the fines and other fees extracted by the federal men come from federal court cases and go into United States funds, while those from state cases, tried by the state agents in Wisconsin courts, help swell the Wisconsin school funds.

Besides the enforcement work, the state prohibition department issues permits to all hospitals, laboratories and manufacturers where liquor or alcohol is being used; issues permits to all physicians, dentists or veterinarians who use alcohol for steril-

SCHOOLS CARE FOR ANEMIC CHILDREN

Open-air Units Are Going into Service in More Institutions Every Year

Madison—(P)—Anemic children and others in need of fresh air and sunshine are now being properly cared for in open-air schools in nearly all of Wisconsin's cities and more of these units are going into service each school year, the state board of health reports in its largest Quarterly Bulletin.

The board characterizes the open-air schools as an important part of the public school system, because of their success in enabling certain types of subnormal pupils to attend and achieve in school.

Oshkosh will open its second school in the fall. Milwaukee is erecting a modern building on the crest of a hill in one of the public parks, the two classrooms and sleeping porch furnishing accommodations for fifty pupils. An open-air room for south-side pupils will be opened in one of the grade schools. Green Bay has had two schools for the last twenty months, Kenosha has two and Racine has two. In every instance the experience has been the same—remarkable improvement in the health and mental proficiency of the children.

To this list are added open air facilities at a Madison school, in use since last fall with a record of successful work with the handicapped.

"The open-air school has endeavored to care for children who are anemic or undernourished or whose general appearances indicate lack of resistance to disease; children exposed to tuberculosis infection by members of their families in their own homes and who themselves show signs of infection by reaction to the tuberculin test, by elevation of temperature, enlarged glands and other signs. Children suffering from any communicable disease and with severe disease requiring absolute rest or hospital treatment; the mentally defective children with open tuberculosis; forms of tuberculosis in which the bacilli are given off in bodily excretions; children suffering from tuberculosis of the bones, joints or glands, which cannot be protected by proper dressings, are excluded.

"Children should be admitted to the open air schools on the basis of a thorough examination, and the period in the school should be covered by a medical and nursing service that undertakes to correct physical defects and handicaps and to adjust work of the school to individual capacities and needs."

WALTHER LEAGUE PICKS COMMITTEE FOR RALLY

About 30 members of the Oliver branch, Junior Walther league of Mount Olive church, will attend the rally of the Fox river valley zone at Horicon on Oct. 7, it was this week. Our Duty Towards Missions was the topic presented at the meeting by Miss Vera Moeller and Loyal Schmidt.

Four new members were admitted to the organization. They are Harland Radloff, Eugene Bleick, Leonard Manter and Gerald Herzfeldt.

It was decided that funds realized by the recent boat excursion to Oshkosh and the Sunday school picnic will be used to purchase a mimeograph machine to be used by the senior and junior branches of league.

After the meeting entertainment was presented and lunch was served. The following committee was in charge: Louise Raether, Virginia Knuth, Carlton Schneider, Ruth Lutzu, Vera Moeller and John Ehke.

CHAMBER COMMITTEES PLANNING PROGRAMS

Fall programs now are being considered by chairmen of the various committees of the chamber of commerce and at least three groups will call meetings soon. Most members of committees have returned from their vacations and with the opening of the fall season are getting into action again, according to Kenneth Corbett, secretary of the chamber. The three groups, which are showing renewed interest, are the forum, legislative and membership committees.

MANY STUDENTS SEEK JOBS FROM Y. M. C. A.

Approximately six applications for part time work for college students are being made daily at the Y. M. C. A. employment desk, according to John Goodrich, office secretary of the association. The association has been able to place several students, and Mr. Goodrich expects to find work for the students within the next week, providing local concerns send in the usual number of calls for employees, he indicated.

Applications for steady work in local industrial plants have diminished from four a day during the past three months to about four a week, according to Mr. Goodrich. During the summer months requests for employment were made by men who went from town to town seeking work.

MODART
Where Style Begins

THE smooth curves achieved by Modart front-lacing corsets give no hint of the rigidly corseted look, so frowned on by modern fashion. The soft materials of which they are fashioned, the well-placed light boning, their gentle figure moulding qualities, conform perfectly to the natural body lines. Model 837x, shown here, illustrates how the diaphragm is supported, how the elastic at the waist-line prevents crowding, how the garment snugs closely to the figure whether sitting or standing. This garment—made of fancy batiste—is especially designed for average figures.—$5.00.

Our corsetiers will show you this model, and other Modart expressions of modern foundations.
